Postal Fund Hike Slated In Congress

House Action Set To End Service, Delivery Slashes

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House was ready to approve swiftly today a bill to give the Post Office Department another 41 million dollars to restore normal mail service.
The Senate was poised to act, possibly tomorrow, thus clearing the way for Postmaster General Summerfield to call off service cutbacks begun Saturday.
Meanwhile, a second stage of Summerfield's cutback order became effective today. Mail deliveries to city business districts were limited to two a day, and most post offices went on an 8½-hour schedule for window service.

Cannon Sees No Difficulty
In advance of the House voting, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee said, "I expect no difficulty."
Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee handling postal funds, said he would urge the Senate to accept the 41-million-dollar figure. He said he feels that's enough to restore all postal services.

Summerfield has said he will make no move to restore service until the President signs a bill giving him more money.

He has said he must have 47 million to keep full mail service in operation during the remaining 2½ months of this fiscal year. He has promised to restore all the cuts he can if he gets 41 million.
He says the supplemental request was prompted by unforeseen costs. He attributed them to unexpectedly heavy mail volume, a need to open new routes to serve spreading residential areas, and a postal pay raise.

Congressional critics, including Cannon, have contended Summerfield should have lived within his regular budget of more than two billion dollars. They have accused him of violating a law designed to prevent overspending by federal agencies.

Cites Law Violated
Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of the watchdog General Accounting Office, said the Post Office Department violated the anti-deficiency law "in spirit" while slaying technically in bounds.

But Campbell, in a letter to Summerfield and Cannon, said the Budget Bureau broke the law by allowing the Post Office to spend its regular appropriation too rapidly.
He said the section of the law relating to the postal situation provides no penalty for violations.

C. Of C. Asks Slash In Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce recommended today a "longer range" foreign aid program calling for an appropriation of $3,600,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.
Its suggestions would entail a cut of about 800 million dollars in President Eisenhower's request for $4,400,000,000, a reduction far less drastic than many members of Congress are advocating.

The Chamber also recommended what it termed "suitable assistance" to neutral nations "without requiring them to ally themselves militarily with the West."
James Tamm, retired business and former vice president of the Texas Co., New York City, outlined the Chamber's position in testimony prepared for a special Senate committee studying the foreign aid program.

Kin, Friends Given Holiday By Swedish-Born Magnate

CHICAGO (AP)—The "fulfillment of a lifelong dream" is at hand for 57-year-old Ragnar Benson, who is picking up the tab for a 350,000 three-week holiday in Sweden with 70 relatives and friends, for a year's engineering firm.
Benson said the trip is his way of expressing gratitude to some of the people who helped him as a newly arrived immigrant.
About half the guests are relatives, including Benson's wife and son and the son's six children. Some 20 employees of the engineering firm, Ragnar Benson, Inc., and other friends make up the party.
The group was expected to return to Chicago May 6.

Bandit Chief Flees Across Iran Frontier

TEHRAN (AP)—A police spokesman claimed today bandit leader Dardshah, whose gang ambushed and murdered three Americans last month, has fled across the Pakistan border and is hiding in the frontier town of Turbat.
The spokesman said Iran has asked permission to send 100 gendarmes to Turbat to help Pakistan militia capture the bandit chief. The Iranians believe they will have more success than the Pakistanis because they know Dardshah's way of life and fighting tactics.

The new report on the bandit chief came from questioning eight members of Dardshah's gang captured Saturday in the border region between Iran and Pakistan, where for the past three weeks police and loyal tribesmen have been searching the desolate mountainous area.

In all, 31 of the bandit gang have been rounded up.
The spokesman added the bandits, some of whom have confessed taking part in 12 holdups and killing 21 persons, are to be tried by a special military tribunal at Khash.

Dardshah's brother, one of the 18 arrested in Pakistan, claimed the gang leader was killed in a gunfight April 3, but Iranian police dispute this.

Plane Plants Lead In U. S. Defense Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Makers of missiles, aircraft and their power plants still do the biggest military business with the government.

A list of the 100 largest defense contractors for the 18 months ending last June 30 was published today by the Defense Department, which has put out such compilations at irregular intervals since July 1950.

Heading the list for the entire six-year period is General Motors Corp., but the big automotive concern dropped to No. 14 in the tabulation for the 18 months ending last June. In the 18-month period, GM received or held military contracts with a net value of 326 million dollars, or a little more than 2 per cent of the total defense contracts awarded in that time.

The leading company on the new 18-month list was North American Aviation. It was followed closely by General Dynamics Corp., which builds planes, submarines and missiles.

Union Leaders To Decide On Beck's Future

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The 13-member Executive Council of the investigation-battered Teamsters Union gathers here today for a conference that will determine if the organization will defend itself against AFL-CIO charges of corrupt practices.

The closed-door strategy session, due to begin tomorrow, could also provide an indication whether Teamster President Dave Beck, accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of putting $200,000 of union funds to his own use, is going to remain the kingpin of the 1,350,000-member union.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has slated a May 6 hearing at which the Teamsters Union will be given an opportunity to defend itself. Should the union ignore the summons, it faces possible ouster from the national labor federation.

The 52-year-old Beck is reported to be insisting that the Teamsters snub the AFL-CIO hearing. Other members of the Executive Council are reported to be urging that the union appear at the probe.
Beck, chief target of the Senate probe, is expected to seek another five-year term at the Teamsters convention in September.

After appearing before the committee, Beck told newsmen he had borrowed some $300,000 to $400,000 in union funds over a period of years but had repaid all of it.

Jordan King Purges Pro-Egypt Officers

Tension Rises After Hussein Takes Control

Major Army Units Support Ruler As Strike Threatened

BULLETIN

AMMAN (AP)—Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, a pro-Western political leader, was named Jordan's new premier today. This was a victory for King Hussein in a six-day-old Cabinet crisis.

The seven-man cabinet includes Sulaiman Nabulsi, the leftist National Socialist party leader dismissed as premier last Wednesday.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—King Hussein today appeared to have won the early rounds of his fight to purge pro-Egyptian leaders from Jordan's army and political scene. But the possibility of violent riots among his Palestinian subjects still posed a grave threat to the young monarch.

So far, major units of Jordan's 24,000-man army and its most effective component—the British-trained Arab Legion—appeared supporting the King.

A spokesman at Hussein's palace, reached by telephone from Damascus, denied reports of demonstrations in Amman, the Jordan capital, and said, "Things are quiet here."

Army Chief Departed
But wild demonstrations were reported yesterday in Palestine towns, held by Jordan since the 1949 war, at word that Hussein had deposed the pro-Egyptian army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nawar, to Syria and placed ousted Premier Sulaiman Nabulsi under house arrest.

Leading members of Nabulsi's old Cabinet forced out last week by Hussein also were reported deposed. Many of Nabulsi's followers in Parliament began fleeing across the Syrian border.

The pro-Socialist Damascus daily Al Rayalaam said a "national front" made up of the three parties in Nabulsi's cabinet had decided to start a "popular resistance" against the King's latest measures. The paper said leaders of the group had left Amman for their homes to direct resistance, but that some were arrested en route.

A strike against the 22-year-old monarch's army-backed coup was threatened as resentment spread among followers of the popular Nabulsi, a leading opponent of ties with the West and an advocate of close relations with Egypt, Syria and the Soviet Union.

Tanks Guard Palace
Tanks guarded the royal palace in the wake of two reported clashes between army units loyal to Hussein and military elements sympathetic to Syria and Egypt.

Syrian sources in Damascus described the King's action as a pro-Iraq coup d'etat. Iraq is ruled by Hussein's cousin King Faisal, and is the special object of Egyptian and Syrian hatred because of its alliance with the West through the Baghdad Pact.

Couple's Effort To Save Car On Crossing Fatal

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—When their car stalled at a railroad crossing, Jess Biggs and his wife Edith tried to push it off the tracks.

A San Diego-bound streamliner hove down on them. They started to run.

The train slammed into the car, sending debris flying. Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Biggs, 53, was apparently hit by the car's engine, which was hurled 100 feet. She was killed.

Briggs was unhurt.

They Are Not So Friendly Now

Three months ago when King Hussein of Jordan, left, visited President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, right, in Cairo, both were all smiles as they enjoyed a smoke. Today Hussein had overthrown pro-Egyptian elements in his government and his action was seen as a threat to Nasser's power in the Arab world.

Solon Lauds Reuther But Calls For Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) spoke up today in defense of an old adversary, UAW President Walter Reuther, but said he still wants to investigate Reuther's union tactics.

"I believe Reuther is an honest man," said Goldwater, a member of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

He said there is no conflict between this statement, which he said he made "in fairness," and his desire to investigate the role of Reuther and his United Auto Workers in a three-year-old strike the union still is pushing against the Kohler Co. in Kohler, Wis.

The firm now is operating with non-strikers and new workers. It has accused the union of "violence and vandalism" and of boycotting efforts. The union says the company has refused to bargain in good faith.

Goldwater said his own staff is looking into the legality of union tactics in that dispute.

Much of Goldwater's dispute with Reuther has revolved around the senator's contention that it is wrong to use union funds for political purposes.

The committee has no immediate plans for any kind of investigation of the auto workers union. It opens Tuesday a brief series of hearings on what Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said was evidence that some labor union officials in the Scranton, Pa., area used "goon squad" violence to deprive union members of their rights.

Alleged terror tactics against some employers in labor disputes there also will be studied during the hearings now scheduled through Thursday.

East Enjoys Fair Weather

By The Associated Press

Warmer, more springlike weather was in the works today from the Great Plains to the Atlantic, and mostly fair skies prevailed east of the Mississippi River.

Mostly cloudy skies were indicated for the plains states with scattered showers forecast for the extreme northern and southern fringes of the area.

A warming trend continued through the night in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the lower Great Lakes but elsewhere it was colder under clearing skies.

Accused Spy For Soviets Faces Trial

Clerk Also Seized For Espionage By Stockholm Police

BULLETIN

STOCKHOLM (INS)—Two employees of the Swedish Atomic Commission were charged today with "gross espionage."

The two men were identified as Robert Damstedt, 29, secretary for the committee, and Goesta Jakobsson, 35, a clerk.

The public prosecutor told newsmen that both men had admitted that during last summer they illegally obtained copies of certain secret submarine drawings and plans.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A high official of Sweden's Atomic Energy Commission has been arrested on charges of spying for Russia.

A police spokesman said 29-year-old Robert Folke Damstedt, the commission's assistant secretary, is being held for trial on charges of atomic espionage.

One unofficial report said a second person was held as a suspect in the case, which was said also to involve sale to Russia of blueprints of Sweden's newest submarines.

Protested Last Month
The disclosure added another round to the stormy exchange of spy charges and countercharges between Russia and Sweden since World War II. Last month Sweden delivered a formal protest to the Kremlin against Soviet espionage in this traditionally neutral country. That protest was coupled with rejection of a Soviet complaint that 14 spies for Sweden had been arrested and sentenced in Russia.

Unofficial reports described the Damstedt case as the most serious in the long chain since World War II. It was learned, however, that as assistant secretary, Damstedt performed mainly administrative functions and that he was a legal expert rather than a nuclear physicist.

News of the arrest came at a time when Sweden military leaders are publicly urging the government to begin manufacturing Swedish tactical atomic weapons or buy them from the West.

Sweden is in the forefront of small nations in the atomic energy field. Top nuclear physicists here claim the country has both the scientific and technical knowledge as well as the economic resources to make her own atomic weapons.

Supreme Research Organ
Sweden is also engaged in experiments on harnessing thermonuclear (hydrogen) energy for peaceful purposes.

Sweden's atomic energy commission is the supreme organ of all Swedish atomic research and receives regular reports from all Swedish universities and nuclear laboratories.

D. A. Battles To Keep Job

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Dist. Atty. William M. Langley, convicted of failing to prosecute gamblers, will go into court today to try to hold on to his job.

Langley, one of the focal points in a yearlong vice investigation in Portland, was convicted by a State Circuit Court jury Saturday.

The penalty is removal from office and a possible $50 to $300 fine, but Langley's attorneys obtained an arrest of judgment. They are scheduled to argue for further delay and also to make a motion for a new trial.

They said they plan to appeal if their motions are denied.

Atty. Gen. Robert V. Thornton of Oregon said, however, that Circuit Court Judge Frank J. Lonergan could remove Langley from office at once, despite any appeal.

Old-Fashioned Sleuths Get Credit In Robbers' Arrest

CLEVELAND (AP)—The startling solution to a bank holdup, in which a movie camera made its debut as an arm of the police, has been making headlines here, but in the background are two old-fashioned detectives who walked confidently to a cash drawer.

The picture was blurred, apparently by vibration near the camera, but the girl's walk looked familiar. The detectives went back to the restaurant where they had seen the red-haired girl among the customers.

That was how the investigation started. It resulted in the surrender of 18-year-old Rose O'Donnell and Steven Ray Thomas, 21, and the capture of Wanda Di Cenzi, bank clerk had pushed a button

Pope To Continue Effort For Nuclear Weapon Ban

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII says he will keep trying to get nuclear weapons outlawed. He looks to the United Nations to achieve this.

The Pope said this yesterday at a private audience, unusual for him Sunday, with Dr. Masatoshi Matsushita, special Japanese envoy touring Europe to agitate for an end to tests of nuclear weapons. Matsushita said he was "very much pleased" with the Pontiff's attitude.

Vatican sources, confirming the envoy's version of the Pope's remarks, hinted the Pope may refer to nuclear weapons again in his Easter message next Sunday.

Representing Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, Matsushita came to Italy from London after Prime Minister Macmillan's government again declined to call off the forthcoming British H-bomb tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific.

Members of Britain's opposition Labor party have demanded postponement of the tests, but the government expects Parliament to approve its stand after a debate this week.

The Pope gave Matsushita a copy of his 1956 Christmas address in which he said:

"Only in the ambit of an institution like the United Nations can promises of nations to reduce armament, especially to abandon production and use of certain arms, be mutually exchanged under the strict obligation of international law." The pontiff endorsed disarmament pledges.

The Pope in his 1953 Christmas message called for the "renunciation of experimentation with atomic weapons, renunciation of the use of such, and general control of armaments."

Matsushita talked with U. S. Judge Green H. Hackworth, president of the World Court at The Hague, on his way from London to Rome. They discussed the nuclear tests.

The Japanese envoy plans to fly to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower. He said another Japanese mission soon will go to Russia, which has set off a series of nuclear explosions this month.

Moscow radio said yesterday that the West is developing "atomic fever... assuming the form of something like hysteria."

Jordan King Coup Places Nasser's Power In Danger

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's President Nasser faces the fight of his political life to retain leadership of the Arab world after King Hussein's coup in Jordan.

Hussein's overthrow of pro-Egyptian elements represents a major break in the so-called "free Arab" front—a grouping of states who oppose the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact and formal Arab ties with the West. The group is composed of Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Yemen.

Winning Jordan over to this Arab clique had been one of Nasser's signal victories over the West of the past two years.

He achieved this through the ouster of Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb, British founder of the Arab Legion, and the termination of the British-Jordan treaty.

Nasser was unchallenged leader of the Arab group and for a time had all the other Arab governments on the defensive in the face of a wave of anti-Western nationalism sponsored by Cairo.

Nasser reached his peak of influence in Jordan last October when a heavily pro-Egyptian parliament was elected and the armies of the Arab group were placed under Egyptian command for any joint operations that might arise.

Early this year, Nasser's leadership was challenged by President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine. The Egyptian President regarded this as an effort to isolate Egypt by drawing the other Arabs into close cooperation with the United States.

Even Nasser's old ally, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, began flirting with America and lined up in a strong anti-Communist position. Arab states outside Nasser's bloc—Lebanon, Iraq, Libya and also 18—all within 36 hours after the holdup. All but $600 was recovered.

Police said charges will be filed today.

Miss O'Donnell admitted driving the getaway car, police said. Miss Di Cenzi was located on the tip of a woman who saw the hold-up film on television.

Thomas gave himself up after fleeing as far as Indianapolis. "I almost fell on my face when I saw the pictures late Friday in the Cleveland News," police quoted him as saying. "When I got off the bus in Indianapolis, a man I never met before started telling me about the robbery film. He said he saw it in a bar up the street. That was too much for me. I knew then I might as well turn around and give myself up."

Miss Di Cenzi was quoted as saying she first heard the robbery plan Thursday and still thought Thomas was joking when they reached the bank. Thomas had to shove her through the door, she was quoted as saying.

St. Clair Savings had installed the camera only the day before. one of several Cleveland banks to make such installations recently.

Youths Held In Air Force Safe Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three youths—two of them under 18—came before a U. S. Commissioner here today on charges of stealing a safe from Andrews Air Force Base near Washington.

The 450-pound safe taken yesterday contained $34,882 in Air National Guard payroll checks. The safe was recovered and the men in custody before the theft was discovered.

D. K. Brown, FBI agent-in-charge in Baltimore, identified a guardsman in the group as Alfred L. Pierce, 20, of Alexandria, Va. He said a 17-year-old Camp Springs, Md., boy and a 16-year-old Alexandria youth were with Pierce.

Anne Arundel County police said the guardsman was on duty, supposedly guarding the safe, when it was taken. Formal charges against the trio were committing a criminal act on government property and stealing government property.

Fire In Home For Aged Near Montreal Kills 15

MONTREAL (AP)—Relatives streamed through the city morgue today trying to identify charred victims of a fire that swept a suburban old people's home, killing 15 residents.

Most of the aged victims were burned beyond recognition. Crippled or bedridden, most had been unable to escape the blaze that engulfed the two-story converted farmhouse within minutes.

Police at Point-Aux-Trembles, where the tragedy occurred, listed four persons still missing. But Mrs. Jean Henry, manager of the home, said there were only 29 persons in the building at the time and 14 survivors had been accounted for.

Thirteen inmates and two nurses walked or were carried to safety before the upper story collapsed.

Firemen believe the blaze, which broke out at 7 p. m. Saturday and raged for three hours, was caused by a short circuit.

Tests By Soviet Under Attack In Jap Newspaper

TOKYO (AP)—The newspaper Yomiuri today called Russia's continued testing of nuclear weapons without warning "the sadistic work of a pervert."

Its editorial said the Soviet attitude "is like a devil's sinister smile."

The paper, one of Japan's largest, said the Soviets have "the key to realization of prohibiting nuclear tests." It called on the United States, Britain and Russia to show their "sincerity" by stopping the nuclear explosions.

Mishap Kills Ex-Airman

DENTON, Md. (AP) — An airman recently discharged from Dover, (Del.) Air Force Base was killed early today in Caroline County. His car ran off a country road near here and plunged into Garland Lake.

Police identified the victim as Claudell E. Blades, about 28, and were attempting to learn his home address today.

Two Doubled, Bids Three

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West was insulted at South's tenacity. West had doubled at two diamonds and here was that imbecile barging right into three. This time West's double could be heard in the next county.

North could do nothing but pass and hope that the slaughter would not be too great while East was quite happy. He had warned his partner once.

The four of spades was opened. South trumped and led the nine of clubs. West saw no reason to use his ace on that innocent little card and South held that trick.

South continued with the club suit and West ducked as long as he could in the vain hope that South would abandon the suit. However, South was sure that East held no trumps at all and continued until the ace fell. He ruffed and then led a trump. Eventually he lost one heart and two diamonds thereby making one overtrick.

East's comments were even louder than West's double had been. He explained carefully that everyone at the table had heard the first double and that South must have held a terrific freak in order to go on.

East suggested that West could have passed if he wanted to be conservative or could have bid three no-trump if he wanted to take aggressive action. In that case West would almost surely have made the game but even if he went down the result would have been much better than what did happen.

Land Owners Join Program

Six land owners became co-operatives in the Allegany County Soil Conservation District, during March, according to the report of Marlin M. Gordon, acting work unit conservationist for the county.

Erosion practices, according to Gordon, will be installed on land purchased by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for a housing development in the West-ernport area.

Some 238 acres of land are included. The area which will not be used for housing will be planted with trees, and other erosion practices will be effected.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has asked for help on a water problem at North Branch on property including 650 acres. Recommendations on other problems will be given as soon as possible.

Travel Dollars

THIS IS THE TIME of year when dark mutterings are heard in Congress about the size of proposed foreign aid spending. Axes are sharpened, and usually welded. Indeed, President Eisenhower already has conceded that some chopping of 1957 figures may be reasonable. It's also the season when Americans start thinking about going somewhere on a trip. In past years, a great many of them have wound up traveling to foreign lands. And the money they spread about as they go is a kind of "foreign aid" to which not even the most rabid opponent of federal programs objects. Ralph Reed, president of the American Express Co., has estimated that American tourists last year spent around 1.2 billion dollars in foreign countries, plus another 250 million riding in foreign ships and planes. Together those sums would equal a sizable chunk of any foreign aid bill ever passed by Congress. But, as Reed notes, tourist dollars are better than "aid" dollars. They represent value given for value.

THE ESTIMATED 1956 U.S. tourist outlays abroad could pay for almost a tenth of all the things we sell to foreign lands. So when an American shells out in France or Italy or whatever country, he not only puts life in that nation's economy but helps sustain his own. American travel abroad has grown so remarkably in the last eight or 10 years that expenditures are now more than double those of 1948. Ordinarily, one would automatically look for 1957, like its immediate predecessors, to smash all records. However, the Suez Canal crisis, with its constricting effect on West European economies, may have discouraged a lot of would-be travelers. Americans like their conveniences. But the evidence at hand indicates that those touched by wanderlust have little to worry about.

AMERICAN EXPRESS recently completed a survey of European travel conditions and found the outlook for Americans bright. Despite rationing of fuel in some countries, U.S. visitors will be assured of ample supplies for either their own or rented cars. The hotel picture is actually better than in 1956, with more space and plenty of those favored commodities—heat and hot water. Most of us want our foreign friends to prosper and are not unwilling to lend reasonable help. Obviously, there's no more pleasant or painless way to help than to satisfy our eternal travel urge by skipping beyond our own borders.

Rope For Noose

FROM TIME TO TIME, various reporters attempt to explain and define Nasser and Nasserism. In one sense, he can easily be described: he is a dictator. In another sense, he is not so easily defined. He uses Hitlerian methods, as well as some of the methods of Communists, and he is at least something of an Arab Peron. His doctrine is not clearly defined, any more than was Peronism. His book, "Egypt's Liberation, The Philosophy of the Revolution," suggests that he is incapable of developing any consistent and comprehensible doctrine. But in that book, he, in effect, announced himself as more than willing to be the leader of the Arabs and, also, the Pan-Islamic world. Along with this, he stated that the Arabs have the advantages of geography, the Suez Canal, and oil. A military dictator of a militarily and economically weak nation can only play in the dangerous game of world power politics by maneuvering and blackmail. This is what Nasser has done. And to date he has achieved successes which seem more impressive now than they are likely to be in history. For Nasser is not and probably cannot be the Moses leading the Arabs out of the desert of a thousand moribund years. The game of power, belligerency and revenge upon Israel which he is playing can only mean that success would make him in fact, if not also in name, a mere satellite. Nasser may or may not have tied the noose with which the Russians want to hang the Arabs, but he has woven rope for such a noose.

WHETHER campaign costs are considered too high depends on which candidates were elected.

Want Fountain Of Youth? Try Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb.—It is here in Nebraska—home of the freeze and the brave—that lively women should weave their nests.

Not that Nebraska needs more women; it's already got enough to keep the competition tough and the men tender.

But the fact is that more women need Nebraska, for here on the windy plains, and within the boundaries of the occasional towns, a female's life-span is longer than in any other state of the forty-eight.

Even if a woman is only "average" of wind and limb—and what self-respecting lady would admit to that?—she figures to live to be seventy-four.

IT'S CURIOUS, considering that in some states where the cotton is high and the livin' is easier, an average girl has got to be pumped full of penicillin to endure to such a venerable and vital statistic. You'd think...

"You'd think people would stop making cracks about Nebraska weather and wake up," snapped a woman who has at least 25 years to go. "We get mad when people talk about our climate. It gets cold in the winter, certainly. It gets hot in the summer, sure."

But when you look at the vital statistics, every year you find that this kind of climate is what makes people hardy and happy!

Variety (from blizzard to sizzle) is not only the spice of life, it's a tonic to the system.

NEBRASKANS have tended to be a mile sensitive on the subject of weather since Dr. Richard Page, a Chicago researcher, dubbed their capital, Lincoln, the city with "about the least comfortable year-round climate in the U. S." Using a theory he called "thermidity," Page analyzed extremes of hot and cold in each of the large cities of the 48 and came out with his comfort count.

It wasn't flattering, and Gov. Victor Anderson's immediate response was, "certainly it's the healthiest climate. Look at the figures."

A LOOK AT the 1956 figures shows that the life expectancy of women, at 74, is tops in the country; that the life expectancy of Nebraska men is 68.2 years, making them only two-tenths of a year less durable than South Dakota, the leader in male longevity; that Lincoln has one of the highest literacy rates of any city in the U. S.—which appears to prove that temperature extremes not only keep the body functioning busily, but keep the brain racing vigorously as well.

The percolating-brain theory is also borne out by the fact that "the elements of nature have made the population smarter than the average guy in a less rugged climate," according to the local lady.

NEBRASKANS still tell of the blizzard of '88, when nature seemed intent upon wiping them out. But, in the struggle for survival, gentlefolk were turned into geniuses.

One woman schoolteacher held her pupils together in the school-house till the roof blew off, then tied them together with girls' skipping ropes and led them into a stack of wild hay, where they burrowed till the storm was through.

In the effete east, in the lethargic south, in warmly heated parlors and cool, quiet patios, people today are living in comfort.

But not nearly, as any Nebraskan can tell you, so long.

Price Outlook Still High On Most Edibles

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The relationship between farm prices and retail food prices is something that politicians have to watch closely, just as economists, storekeepers and housewives.

For instance, the last farm price report showed averages 3 per cent higher than a year ago and 5 per cent above the December 1955 low. This was good news for farmers.

But at about the same time it was announced that food prices were 4.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

Food prices are still 2.6 per cent under the August 1952 peak. But recent food price rises are one of the main factors in the last monthly increase in the whole cost of living index to a new high, 18.7 per cent above the 1947-49 base average.

Your government has very definite policies and programs for trying to increase farm prices. But there is no government program for trying to hold down food prices.

Principal programs for trying to bolster farm prices now are getting rid of holdover surplus crops from previous years and putting more acreage into the Soil Bank reserves, so as to cut production.

SECRETARY Ezra Taft Benson has hinted that Department of Agriculture is "considering" a request to Congress to end mandatory price supports and "studying" more flexibility for all price support programs.

These changes could be made only on next year's crops. That means they would have no effect on this year's food prices.

Lower price supports would seem at first glance to mean that farm prices would be lowered. But if lower support price levels would cause farmers to plant smaller crops or put more acreage into the Soil Bank, the effect would be to raise farm prices still further. That might mean higher food prices.

The big riddle is what the price of corn will be when this year's crop is harvested next fall. If the size of the crop is kept down the price will be higher than if there is a bumper crop. Bad weather could also cut the crop and force prices still higher.

ONLY A SMALL part of the corn crop goes directly into human food as cereal, syrup, cornstarch or other byproducts. But the size and price of the corn crop have a direct effect on the size of the pig crop next fall and brought to market in 1958. The higher this year's corn prices, the higher next year's pork prices will be. This is the famous corn-pig ratio.

With a bumper corn crop and low prices, hogs fell to the lowest level in years during 1955. But since then, pork prices have been rising. The 1956 fall pig crop was small. Prices of all pork cuts rose sharply. This has been a principal factor in the cost of living food price index rise this winter.

Higher pork prices created a greater demand for lamb, beef and poultry, and their prices were forced up, too.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — The toughest of men has a streak of lean in him somewhere, a spot of vulnerability, else we never would have had to venture that old cracker about Achilles' heel all these years.

Alfred Hitchcock, noted for his appetites in the way of murder and suspense stories, is a sucker for lady ghosts. He goes out of his way to look for them and, hopefully, exchange a few pleasant words.

Jack Ford, the professional Irishman, is a hard-bitten film director, but he can be tamed with the first eight bars of "Danny Boy." He gets tears in the eyes and all that.

And a friend often mentioned here is a realistic, renowned director of plays having to do with suspense, mayhem, murder and violence. But let a bird flit across his sight and he becomes the happiest and most gentle of men. His name is Reginald Denham.

REGGIE is known among actors as an exacting director. He knows almost to the ounce what an actor or actress can give of the fruits of their talents and he doesn't want a fraction less.

He has the blunt point of view that an actor was hired to play a role because of certain capabilities, and he won't settle for less than all of those capabilities. If you are hired — and accept — you do your job. Let's have no nonsense.

But, in his private life, Reggie is a bird watcher. He has lain in damp holes, itchy ditches and under scrub for hours just to wait for one bird to fly into his sight and then, painstakingly, and in detail, he writes in his little notebook and resumes his uncomfortable stance.

HE HAS DONE this in the dripping rain forest of Puerto Rico, in the Camaguey of France (a spot so desolate it makes the Great Dismal Swamp seem a garden), in the jungled heights of Haiti and now he is off to a section of Spain so dry and remote that if you get a telephone call or a telegram you are eight hours by horse from the Spanish town into which that message filtered.

He carries bird calls in his pocket as most men carry book matches, and can reproduce, without the mechanical aid of calls, the cries of most American birds and even some from Soma-liland.

AFTER THREE or four smash Broadway hits in a row — "Dial M. For Murder" and "The Bad Seed" being the last two — Reggie recently undertook the direction of a melodrama which died at the startling gale.

It opened on a Tuesday and closed Saturday and it's name need not be invoked again. It was a bad play, but he gave it all he had and caused his cast to give it all they had. It died, anyway.

Did Reggie mope? Not for a moment. He got on the overseas telephone to London, kindled a few kindred friends into action and has departed for Spain on a bird-watching safari of Britons, which will include three lords and sundry gentry.

"I WANT TO SEE a Griffon vulture," he told me the other night over a slice of brie and a hot, toasted cracker laced with hot tea. "Big brutes, running to six-foot of wing span. They abound in this area of Spain and I'd like to add one or two to the dossier. They're foul looking things, but smart as people. Smarter in some ways."

DID HE NOT think that taking the subway for 15 cents to the Bronx Zoo, which has a Griffon vulture, would suffice and save him about $1,999.85? Or $3,999.70, if you count the fare back home. "Can't tally these things in money, old boy," said Reggie, peeling a dull red Mexican banana. "Matter of being on the premises. A caged vulture is nothing. You have to see these fellows in a state of nature, wheeling through the sky, skidding into a landing alongside a defunct mule, that kind of thing. 'Like the little canaries in Haiti. Got out of the car, got out the call, squeaked them up into action and had a fine result. Nothing like it.'"

This resolute, dedicated man of the theatre and of conspicuous success as a writer of plays and director of them, wants to see a certain big vulture. So he's off to Spain where the thing lives. Bird watchers never neck the cost — only the result.

Small Chance For Matador

BARCELONA, Spain — I think perhaps a few American hotel keepers (names on request) should drop over here and put up for a few days at the Avenida Palace Hotel. They might learn something about keeping the customers happy.

Here the rooms are spacious and, in terms of U. S. dollars, exceedingly reasonable in price. Here is the only hotel in which I've ever stayed which has a switch built into the headboard of the bed so a fellow can crawl in without slugging his toes and then shut off the lights from a reclining position.

Every time after a client takes a nap, the maid comes in and makes his bed. Let him rinse his hands and she's back to polish both his wash basins. That's right, two wash basins. The management figures that in these modern times when travelers like myself wear deacon shirts, they polish their teeth in the other.

THERE'S NO doubt here about which faucet gushes hot. The cold water faucet is blue, the hot is red, and I pass the idea along without charge to the manufacturers of American plumbing.

There's the little matter of a resident shaving his face. The management provides a large magnifying mirror mounted on a swivel attached to the wall.

In the bottom of the mirror, so the shaver won't blind himself, is a spotlight that focuses on his chin. With whiskers looking like fence posts under a flood of light, it is difficult to miss them.

In other less European hotels the guests are expected to leave dusty shoes in the hall for the shine boy. This usually works out all right, but it frequently has resulted in tourists becoming involuntary barefoot boys.

This cannot happen at the Avenida Palace. You leave the shoes inside the door. There is a hole with lock and key through which the boy reaches for the footwear.

DOWN THE street a couple of blocks is another hotel, the Ritz, of equal caliber. I haven't seen its rooms, but I had lunch there and all I can say to American hotel men is that they wouldn't believe it.

Here the hosts were Jorge Vila Fradera, director of the Spanish Tourist Office, and his beautiful wife. There was a waiter for every guest and the waiters wore white gloves.

This meal started with hot cheesecakes an inch and a half wide with dry sherry, and went on from there until about half way through the waiters brought in some strange-looking trout, which looked like medical instruments except that they were silver. They resembled forceps but at the end they were rounded clamps a couple of inches long.

THESE, it developed, were for attacking the asparagus. You clamp a spear of this, hold it high with the pinchers and eat the tender end.

This is easy and it is neat, but you know how an American can mess up the works. My asparagus slid out and stained my coat with yellow dressing.

Almost instantly the waiter was at my side with some clothes-cleaning compound. He labored expertly while I tackled another spear of asparagus, and I doubt if anybody in America ever had service like that. I'm thinking of wearing my old ties to meals in Barcelona, drop fresh gravy on them, and have them cleaned while dining.

Senora Vila Fradera said she uses asparagus clamps only when eating in style. At home she uses her fingers. She also said she was expecting twins in a matter of hours. So we all drank to the health of these new citizens of Spain.

THEN THE Senor brought on the educational part. He presented one of Spain's leading bullfighters, clad in a gold-studded suit, to demonstrate some of the finer points of the game, but this was not a success.

There were a couple of American lady fashion editors present and they grabbed that poor matador's cloak—the pink and yellow one he uses to catch the bull's eyes—and headed for a mirror. They said this cloak would be a superb evening wrap. They talked about starting a new style.

Poor matador. When I left, he still was waiting for the ladies to finish draping his cloak upon themselves.

FROM TIME to time, the news reports from Cairo and Damascus mention that Soviet technicians have gone to these two Arab capitals.

Also, it is now widely and reasonably accepted that Russian arms have been shipped to both Egypt and Syria.

This news is the most sinister which is coming out of the Middle East, but it receives less attention and causes much less concern than it should.

It is less than wise and reasonable to assume that Russian technicians are merely engineers from some Russian equivalent of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They undoubtedly include political agents and military specialists.

They are the crops which can sink Russian cement into the sands of Arabia; in plain words, they are an advance guard which could make Russian influence permanent and dangerous to the West as a whole, and to the security of the United States.

Russian air bases in Syria and a Russian submarine base in Alexandria could change the entire strategic situation not only as far as the Middle East goes, but also for NATO.

This is a more important feature of the continuing Middle Eastern crisis than talk as to whether or not Nasser is sincere, and also as to whether or not the Israelis made him want to destroy Israel and its people.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—How would you like to fly around the earth and attend the top shows in all the world's entertainment capitals?

"We're planning such a tour right now for some time after Christmas," said Betty Murray, one of Broadway's most unusual idea girls.

"There will be plenty of people who'll want to go."

Miss Murray, known as "The Show Plane Lady," is perhaps the most stage-struck woman in America. She was a varsity player on the clavichord and the oboe in college, but now she plays all her concertos on an even more lovable instrument—the cash register.

BETTY CAME TO Broadway with a headful of dreams back in 1947. She took the first job she could find—as a switchboard jockey and utility typist for a local radio station. Then she began promoting trade shows.

In 1954 the tall, slender blue-eyed girl caught the attention of Herman Shumlin, producer of "Inherit the Wind." He made her a production assistant.

Shortly thereafter she heard a group of producers griping about the summer lull along Broadway. She reasoned that the hinterland must be full of people who'd like to fly to a weekend in New York and fill all those empty seats.

"But many people hate to come here by themselves," she said.

"They also hate to make hotel and theater reservations. Why couldn't I set up a simple package deal to take care of them?"

THE IDEA HAS become a multi-million dollar enterprise. Betty has had no difficulty getting famous Broadway producers and actors to attend her cocktail parties.

They all realize it helps create an audience for their next play," she said.

Next month Betty will shepherd a group of 71 theater lovers on her first "International Show Plane" trip to Europe.

They will attend performances in England, Paris, and Rome, meet Sir Laurence Olivier, Ingrid Bergman and Mario Lanza—and play a bit of roulette at Monte Carlo.

Now hailed as a new savior of the legitimate theater, Betty years to be an angel—in the Broadway meaning of the term.

"I'd like to produce a fine play, something real and artistically sincere," she said, "even if it winds up a commercial flop."

"Then, after I've got that out of my system, maybe I'll go back and take up the clavichord and oboe again."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—Ever since last autumn when Clare Boothe Luce told of the terrible privations she suffered as U.S. Ambassador to Italy because Congress was too parsimonious to buy her the bare necessities of official existence, I have been seething with fury at our stingy legislators. But now I feel my indignation was misdirected.

When the lovely ex-envoy moaned that she had to import her own dictating machine to Rome because our government would not supply her with one, I simply boiled.

How, I fumed, could men calling themselves gentlemen, be so chintzy as to deny a lady a dictatorial device? It is a must for a female in public life. It is one of the few things she can talk to without interruption.

For the longest time, however, I thought I was alone in my ire at the pinch-penny treatment of Henry Luce's helpless helpmeet. But, unbeknownst to me until the other day, Rep. John J. Rooney, of New York, was seething too.

THE BROOKLYN Democrat is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee that passes upon the State Department's money requests, and his seething is apt to be more blistering than mine because, when he seethes, he looks into things and seethes all.

His far-seething eye glared at the State Department for not giving Madame Luce anything to talk into but a dry martini. This must have stung Deputy Undersecretary of State for Administration Loy Henderson, because he ordered Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs C. Burke Elbrick to command Executive Director of European Affairs E. Paul Tenny to plant an undercover agent in our Embassy in Rome to spy into Mrs. Luce's undictatorial allegations.

The sleuth, apparently a curmudgeon with no qualms about ratting on a lady, smuggled out a report that the Embassy had 18 government-owned dictating machines.

This would seem to be enough to talk to, even for the most talkative. But the undercover man, who must be blonde-resistant, reported that Mrs. Luce also had been equipped with at least two dozen living stenographers who could take rapid dictation too, on days when she felt especially garrulous.

THE SLEUTH — egad, what a cad! — asserted there was no substance to Madame Luce's plaint that there were only three secretaries in the place capable of keeping up with her—her dictation, I mean.

At an inquisitorial session, Rep. Rooney asked how many people Mrs. Luce had under her jurisdiction in Italy. Tenny promptly replied that she had 80 Americans and 65 Italians. Rooney persisted that he was speaking of the number in all Italy, not just the Embassy. Tenny did another take, and made this remarkable reply: "A total of 305 Americans and locals. I beg your pardon—it is 405!"

The grilling also produced this fascinating exchange:

"Rooney: Now, how many competent, rapid-dictation secretaries did you have in her establishment, that huge place we maintain in Rome known as the Palazzo Margherita?"

"Tenny: We do not have the exact number of secretaries, but it approximates 25, 24, or around that number."

"Rooney: As the head of the mission were those at her disposal to move around as she saw fit?"

"Tenny: She certainly could have moved them around to any place there was a need for them in the Embassy."

Now you can understand why I feel my indignation was misdirected. It should have been directed at the squealer who snitched on my fair lady.

Britains Coming To U.S. Warned 'Anything Goes'

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP)—Britons thinking of emigrating to the United States were warned today in a national newspaper to prepare for a "frightening experience in a country where 'anything goes in the dollar chase.'"

America was depicted as a land of bribery, "sickening frankness" about sex and psychiatrists—though fabulously generous and "refreshing" in willingness to experiment with something new.

The report in The People, Sunday newspaper with a circulation of 4½ million, was written by Len Coulter, an Englishman who has lived in the United States for seven years.

"It's a fascinating country," he concluded in advising prospective emigrants to think twice before parking for New York. "But for someone born and bred in Britain it is sometimes hard to take."

High wages in the United States, he claimed, were misleading.

"You see," he wrote, "the average working-class husband in America is up to his ears in debt. Unless he buys things he cannot afford he loses social standing among his neighbors."

"Money is the measure of everything. So people swap jobs constantly in a frantic scramble for the extra dollar."

Coulter emphasized in his report that New York was not typical of life throughout the United States. But, he added:

"Most of America's metropolitan areas are controlled by grafters and gangster elements. They have infected industries, government institutions and even the police force."

"Before I went to take my automobile driver's test in New York friends assured me: 'You won't pass unless you 'accidentally' leave a five-dollar bill on the seat beside the inspector. We all do it.'"

Coulter's story didn't say whether he left a fiver, or whether he got a license.

Giving an instance of the fast pace at which Americans live, Coulter wrote:

"It is the constant struggle for the 'fast buck,' for personal advancement or financial power which gives New York City its hypertension. Every third fourth person you meet is having psychiatric treatment for some emotional problem or maladjustment. Each big apartment building has at least one resident psychiatrist, and some have four or five. It is the booming profession in town."

"It's not only emotional tension that stems from the mad struggle for money. So do immorality, delinquency and degeneracy."

Describing a visit to a school just outside New York where juvenile delinquents are treated, he wrote:

"They are allowed to 'date' each other. They get a cigarette ration. They may buy sweets—candy. On Saturday evenings they rock'n'roll."

"One pert young lady, with a long record of misbehavior, put on her lightest sweater when I was there and tried hard to persuade me to smuggle her out of the school."

"We could have a wonderful time," she said.

"Uninhibited talk of that kind is common among adult Americans, too."

Count on ¼ to ½ pound of ground beef per person for hamburgers.

Dr. Stewart, Mrs. Holt Gain Honors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Irving Stewart, president of West Virginia University, has been selected by the West Virginia Society of Washington as the state's outstanding son of the year.

Mrs. Helen Holt, former member of the West Virginia House of Delegates and widow of U.S. Senator Rush Holt, has been chosen the state's outstanding daughter.

The selections were announced today by Willis G. Kemper, chairman of the committee arranging the society's annual Son and Daughter Banquet here May 4.

Kemper said that for the first time the society also has selected an outstanding adopted son of the state. He is Edgar Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries Corp. He was chosen, Kemper said, because of "his impressive contribution to the state's economic development and progress."

The dinner, Kemper said, will be attended by West Virginians residing in the Washington area, the West Virginia congressional delegation, and West Virginians prominent in the state's legislative and educational affairs.

Here's Where Your Tax Money Goes: Individuals Stand 56 Per Cent Of Bill

By G. K. Hodenfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is the day Uncle Sam expects every man to do his duty. And every woman and child, too, for that matter, if they had a taxable income in 1956.

Today is the day income taxes are due. And honest, folks, Uncle Sam needs the money.

How else is he going to buy those atomic submarines (60 million dollars), those B52 bombers (8 million dollars) and those re-fills for his ballpoint pens (14 cents)?

And that's only the beginning. Uncle Sam has a daily shopping list so long there is no man or woman government agency that knows exactly what it includes.

For instance — for the proper administration of our affairs, he needs more than three billion sheets of mimeograph paper. Then there are rubber bands — some 600 million of them.

It takes $2,825,220 worth of mimeograph paper and $188,932 worth of rubber bands to run the government. And Uncle Sam pays nearly $107,000 a year for the delegation, and West Virginians prominent in the state's legislative and educational affairs.

But the cost of government is much more than just the purchase of pens and paper and rubber bands.

It's payment for past wars and prevention of new ones. It's conservation and highways, schools, and housing, our affairs with foreign countries and the delivery of mail down the street. It's the cost of the FBI and the school milk program, interest on the national debt and the maintenance of our national parks, the purchase of surplus farm products and the clearance of slums.

When the fiscal year ends next June 30, Uncle Sam will have spent about $68,900,000,000. Someone has to pick up the tab.

Individual Taxes

Individual income taxes will net the government about $38,500,000,000, or 56 per cent of the bill. Corporation taxes figures to be $21,400,000,000. Excise taxes — on luggage, cigars, playing cards, etc. — add another $10,700,000,000. Right there you have $70,600,000,000 — just short of the $70,628,000,000 Uncle Sam plans to take in this fiscal year. Customs duties, estate taxes and gift taxes add considerably to this total, but they are offset by refunds and transfers to trust funds.

And what happens to that 38½ billion dollars in income tax? Where does the money go? Mister, it went that way. Actually, it falls 2½ billion dollars short of what O'Uncle is paying out this year for "major national security."

The Defense Department alone gobbles up $36,000,000,000. The Mutual Security Program takes $2,600,000,000 for military aid to our allies and 1½ billion dollars for economic, technical and other help. The Atomic Energy Commission is spending $1,900,000,000. Stockpiling of critical materials and the expansion of defense production takes $400,000,000.

That's 42½ billion dollars gone already and we haven't even started spending. Let's take a closer look at those Defense Department figures. What's the brass going to do with 36 billion dollars?

Take the Air Force. It gets about 17½ billion dollars this year, give or take a few hundred million. The Air Force needs planes, and this year that's going to cost us a bit more than six billion dollars. Add another 1½ billion for guided missiles, four billion for operation and maintenance, 3½ billion for the military payroll and about a billion for construction work.

Then there's an item for $5,389,000 (we're down to millions now) under the general heading of "other." That's the money the Air Force needs for such things as meals for recruiting parties, rations for prisoners of war and rewards for the apprehension and delivery of deserters, prisoners and airmen who go AWOL. You'll be glad to know that this last item can't exceed $25 in any one case.

Then There's Navy

Then there's the Navy. It gets a little over 10 billion. Aside from the military payroll of about 2½ billion, the Navy's biggest expenditure is for — airplanes. That item comes to almost 2 billion dollars. Ships? The Navy figures on about 1½ billion for that. A few other highlights: 625 million to meet the Marine Corps payroll, 480 million for research and development, 300 million for military construction and 225 million for ammunition.

The Navy also gets $300,000 (that's thousands, now) to buy fuel for its ships and $754,000 to run the Naval Observatory, whence we are all entitled to the right time.

The Army runs a poor third when it comes to getting and spending money. This year's figure is $7,645,216,882 — and it has a place for every one of those dollars. The biggest single item is the military payroll of some 3½ billion dollars. "Operation and maintenance" comes to nearly three billion. Military construction is costing 420 million, research and development 410 million and the Army National Guard costs 290 million.

A whopping $7,260,000,000 from the '57 budget goes to pay interest on the public debt (which is now about 275 billion dollars). This is one of a number of budget items the government just can't cut. Even as the debt has been inch-

Noisy B52, Neighbors Find Peace

By P. D. ELDRED

CASTLE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The noisy B52 jet bombers at this Strategic Air Command installation have learned to live on the best of terms with their neighbors.

Fifty thousand civilian visitors swarmed over the usually secret base Saturday, inspecting and even photographing the huge eight engine Intercontinental bombers and other types of aircraft, in a clear demonstration that, with proper community relations, the jet noise problem can be met.

It was a significant thing, the way it was handled here, for with jet-engined commercial planes scheduled to begin operations at many civilian airports across the country within the next two years, there has been grave concern whether adjacent communities would tolerate the racket.

In a brief welcoming talk to the horde of visitors, the B52 wing commander, Maj. William E. Eubank, Jr., made mention of the excellent relations brought about and interest shown by residents of Merced, Atwater and other nearby communities in operations at the base.

Since the first B52 started flying out of Castle on June 29, 1955, Gen. Eubank has endeavored to let the people know what was going on, with the result that he has practically eliminated any MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Strong Moon, Jupiter and Uranus rays. This should be a month of activity and financial gains, business advancement in an unusual way, steady advancement in your specific endeavor.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Splendid vibrations for matters concerning the public, government and the military. Aid those who are working for good causes; work with those who are purposeful and unselfish. Some gains dedicated in business and finance.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — While benefits and some solid advancement are assured if you put forth best efforts, it will still be necessary to plan carefully. Avoid errors, overreaching, hard work, trades, industry, professions, favored.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — This should be a peak day for your personal and workday interests. The Moon and Jupiter are in auspicious positions, usually busy.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — This day may not be entirely easy but, if you are steady and consistent in following essential program requirements, you can have as satisfactory returns as anyone. Aim at stardom.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — The artistic professions, fine foods and culinary pursuits on the favored list. Financial matters, if complaints that might have arisen from the noisy monsters.

"Noise is the biggest problem we have," the general said, "and we doubt if much can be done to reduce it."

The base public relations officer, Capt. Robert Stephenson, commented that people living near the base "are so used to the noise now that they don't pay any attention to it. It's like anything else; learn to live with it and you don't know it's there."

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — You can show your activity and deftness to good advantage now. Cleverness in knowing what attitude to take in dealing with the public and with officials will net sound returns. Make your talents count.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio) — Plan carefully in difficult tasks and assignments, but do so ahead with all duties cheerfully, confidently. This can be a fruitful, progressive day, with many fresh opportunities for advancement.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius) — A grand time for securing sound finances and investments generally, but not one for reckless spending or taking needless risks. Good headwork will lead to attainment. Fresh advantages, cooperation from others. Think!

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn) — With your innate knowledge, you can put many activities on the right side of the ledger now. Keep your nose busy.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius) — Very stimulating influences in your sector. You should be more ambitious than usual, work hard, climb higher than ordinarily. Steady does it.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces) — Unique, out-of-the-ordinary devices, methods and equipment can be used to great advantage now. Don't fear to venture some and try out new and valuable ideas to improve your status.

YOU BORN TODAY have been perceptive, are intelligent, creative, often ingenious, a keen student. You gather knowledge quickly and put it to good use. If true to your finer qualities, you are enterprising, progressive, willing to work for high achievement. Failures to correct, impatience, indifference to detail and a temptation to express your opinions too strongly. Cultivate your fine gifts and accept detail work as important and necessary to a whole project.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Health restored through book recommended here, woman wants to offer public thanks.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Two and a half years ago I read in your column about the book: "Body, Mind & Sugar" (Holt).

I promptly bought it and nearly cried from joy when I read the familiar symptoms of my miserable state of utter weakness — with a correct interpretation put on my illness, for the first time.

Before I had finished reading the book I promised myself that if the corrective diet, described by the authors, would return me to normal health, I would write a letter of thanks to your column — and to the authors of the volume.

In Seven Years, In Five Countries

It is this promise that I am fulfilling today. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for bringing this book to my attention.

During seven miserable years I was an absolutely useless person; and doctors in five different countries couldn't help me. Then nothing short of a miracle happened, when the sugarless diet changed me completely — and I am now as full of zest and energy as I could wish.

My thankfulness is eternal. Yours faithfully, — D. N.

Says Diet Healed Mental Sickness

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you for the wonderful work you are doing — particularly, in calling attention to such timely books as "Body, Mind & Sugar" (Holt) by Dr. E. M. Abrahamson and A. W. Pezet; and "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace) by Adelle Davis.

The editors of a national magazine are interested in a story about my wife, who was a so-called mental patient for some months, and had been regarded as a hopeless case; and then was healed by the diet outlined in "Body, Mind & Sugar," that counts as hyperinsulinism (blood sugar starvation).

The editors of the magazine want names and addresses of reputable doctors who are using the Abrahamson theory with success. I have furnished them with the names of four doctors; but would like to add as many as possible. I would appreciate any additional information that you may have. Sincerely, — C. C.

Certain Memorable Endorsement Letters

DEAR C. C.: I haven't kept any file of testimonial mail on this subject, but four letters of endorsement stand out in my memory.

The earliest came from the wife of a Naval officer, about four years ago. She was the first person to call my attention to Abrahamson and Pezet's book.

The second was from a doctor's wife, who reported that her husband had been practicing, successfully, for some 20 years, along the lines of Dr. Abrahamson's findings — namely, that

Soil Survey Report Filed

Approximately 1,200 acres of land in Garrett County were surveyed recently by Kenneth M. Stone, soil specialist of the Soil Conservation Service here.

A total of 380 acres were surveyed near Grantsville while 820 acres were surveyed near the 4-11 Camp area in Bittinger.

A March report to the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Supervisors shows that a total of 32 hours were spent in supervision, training and inspection with E. Z. W. Compy, supervisor of soil scientists.

All the working time for the next month, according to the report, will be in Garrett County as plans call for surveys in the vicinity of Grantsville and Bittinger.

Marlin M. Gordon, acting work unit conservationist, said his office, through the Agriculture Conservation Program, has received requests for assistance from 50 farmers of Allegany County who are seeking aid on 75 different practices. SCS is responsible for need and feasibility, layout, supervision and construction.

Of these, 20 practices are for farm ponds. Gordon said in his monthly report that contour strips were laid out for M. I. Slider, Town Creek; Charles Humbertson, Warrior Mountain; Paul Browning, Murley's Branch; Thomas Arnicia, Oldtown; and Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage.

Hitchcock Volume To Point Up "Good Taste" Problems Of Producers Of Television Plays

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP) — Every television producer, director and writer will tell you of stories he wants to go on the home screen. But "they" won't let him. "They" are not as much individuals as the generally guarded overtone of the industry which wishes to keep its program within "good taste" and is frightened of offending anyone. It's a curious situation. There is, for example, one program which owns the television rights to Mackinlay Kantor's "Andersonville," but will not dramatize the novel for fear it will offend elements of our southern population. On the other hand, the offensive action of some of our ancestors up in Salem, Mass., some time ago when they tortured and killed fellow citizens for witchcraft is considered (and rightfully so) absorbing television. In fact, "Odyssey" (CBS-TV) repeats its production of the Salem trials yesterday. "Good taste" is often a matter of personal prejudices. Since the television audience now embraces almost the entire population, it embraces everybody's prejudices. And so, next season, we're going to see many fairy tales on the home sets — but fairy tales care of the Dracula-Frankenstein-Vampire school. But he does not use them because some mothers have complained that they frighten the kiddies and they have been found disturbing to patients in mental institutions who watch the program. Since men first told tales around a fire, has never been very horrifying on television. Albert McCleery, the producer of "Matinee Theater" (NBC-TV), was telling us last week that he owns TV rights to a vast store of horror stories that will not be done on television is an anthology which Alfred Hitchcock himself has gathered in one volume soon to be published by Simon and Schuster and appropriately entitled "Stories They Wouldn't Let Me Do on TV."

Prime Example

City Moves To Revise Tax Limit

Would Give Funds During Emergency For City Operations

The Mayor and Council, in effect, sent to its second reading today a charter amendment resolution which will raise the city's tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50 on each $100 of assessable property.

Actually, the resolution was tabled for a week following approval of the first reading after John J. Long, commissioner of finance and revenue, said he wanted that time to study the proposal. He said he, in cooperation with City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, could have a statement on city finances by that time.

Gibson said, however, that the financial statement could be made any time and added it was the obligation of council to prepare orders and resolutions to meet any contingencies. Certainly, in view of the present situation, it should put this resolution into operation, he added.

The city, in setting its budget last year, came within five mills of its present $1.25 tax limitation for operating expenses. This limitation was set by the legislature in 1953. Upping the tax limitation now would not necessarily mean a tax increase. It merely gives the authority in event an increase is needed.

Face Number Of Situations

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained that the city is faced with a number of situations including the Expressway, Industrial Boulevard, withholding of gas and motor vehicle revenues by the state, and very important locally, conferences with police, firemen and the city employees union concerning pay increases. The city has made no statement of intent concerning the pay raises but he emphasized the city must set its levy by August 23.

Should the city continue as it is, it will find the five mills remaining in the present tax limitation would allow only about $3,000 for an adjustment in salaries provided that other city expenses do not increase.

He further explained that this resolution should go through the same channels as other resolutions under home rule. It must be posted for 40 days, advertised, and then if 20 per cent of the registered voters petition for a referendum it will have to be placed on the ballot at a special or general election. Should no petition be filed, the approximately effective date is June 4.

Would Provide Cushion

The city, at present, is facing a referendum on a proposed $500,000 Urban Development bond issue, and it would be possible for both of these proposals to be tied together and combined on one ballot. If not voted on before the August 23 levy date, the alternative is to go to the regular municipal election in June, 1958. (Should the tax limitation rise go through, either by no opposition by petition or by referendum, it would give the city a "cushion" to cope with emergencies and provide it with a fee-way to meet operating expenses. One instance where it would apply is in the event the $500,000 bond issue is rejected.)

Long said the present tax rate is $1.58, and if the 25 cent tax limitation hike is granted would make it possible to go to $1.83. However, he said, if it is felt at budget time that the money is not necessary, the tax rate would not be raised. He added he felt the proposal a "democratic move."

Long said after the meeting today that until this morning when the tax limitation resolution was discussed in a pre-council session, "No one had discussed it with me, and as finance commissioner I believe I have a right to know about these things."

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz, who initiated the tax limitation move in a statement two weeks ago, said he did not favor any delay "since we know we have to have it."

He said the city is only passing the resolution for the purpose of using the money "if we have to. None of us is interested in increasing the tax rate unless we have to."

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan strongly appealed for council to take action, saying "It's the only way to face it," and he added "No one wants to raise the tax rate." Keegan recalled that a referendum to construct Koon Dam passed by only 107 votes and then he asked "Where would the city be without it?"

Ministerial Group Sets Lenten Service

The South Cumberland Ministerial Association will hold its community Lenten service Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

The Rev. Kenneth Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, will be the speaker. His subject will be, "The Crowd."

MAIL PILES UP—Due to curtailment of postal service as a result of an order by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield the accumulation of mail over the weekend at the local Post Office resembled the Christmas season rush. Clyde Robertson (in white shirt) and Thomas Moore are shown above as they worked yesterday afternoon to sort some of the incoming mail. The view shows the main floor mailing department. Similar piles of mail jammed the second floor sorting room.

Postal Staff Tackles Huge Mail Backlog Easter Here

Postal workers this morning started the big task of sorting mail accumulated over the weekend for delivery today; the huge backlog resulting from orders by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield to curtail service due to a lack of operating funds.

As one postal worker said, "It's just like the day after a holiday, except we do not have any extra workers to assist in sorting the mail."

Carriers were busy this morning in working letter mail for delivery while parcel post packages will have to be handled when postal workers can get to them.

Thomas Comiskey, assistant postmaster, said parcel post and third-class mail is handled at the convenience of the department.

All incoming mail which arrived at the Post Office after 8:30 a. m. Friday (with the exception of special delivery) could not be delivered until today. Carriers work their mail for delivery which normally starts about 8:30 a. m. Among the accumulation at the Post Office are newspapers, magazines, and third class mail which arrived here Friday, Saturday and yesterday.

Mail was worked to Post Office boxes related mostly by business firms.

The sorting room on the second floor of the Post Office had a jam of mail sacks filled with letters, and this morning carriers were hard-pressed to reduce this huge pile of today's incoming mail and that which accumulated over the weekend.

Service at Post Office window handling C.O.D., general delivery, parcel post, and registered letters has been curtailed one hour daily Monday through Friday. The new hours for these windows will be 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. instead of 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Carrier service to the business section will continue on the old schedule while the one delivery to residential areas will also be continued.

Main curtailment is the shut-down on Saturdays of mail delivery and no working second or third class mail over the weekends.

Frost Forecast Tonight; Sunny, Warm Tomorrow

The weather will be fair and cold tonight with some frost, according to the forecast by the Weather Bureau.

Tomorrow will be sunny and warmer while on Wednesday it will be warmer with showers. The low temperature overnight in Allegany County will range between 25 and 30 degrees and near 25 degrees in Garrett County.

Late Saturday night and early Sunday snow fell in Garrett County in the Oakland section, and in the Deal, Pa. area. The snowfall was light in Oakland while at Deal about an inch fell.

Oakland had a low temperature of 13 degrees early today, and it was 18 degrees at Deal and Elkins.

Oddly enough, the temperature in Thomas, which is about 3,000 feet in elevation, was 44 degrees at 8 a. m. today.

The low temperature early today in Cumberland was 23 degrees. Shortly before midnight Saturday snow flurries fell in the city.

Half Day Holiday

City offices and departments will close at noon on Good Friday and remain closed until Monday. The Mayor and Council order today.

Plan Sunrise Service For Easter Here

The Easter sunrise service conducted annually by the Cumberland Ministerial Association will be held on the field in Fort Hill stadium instead of indoors.

In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held in Fort Hill High School auditorium.

The program will start at 6 a. m. with instrumental heralding by the brass sextet of Allegany High School.

The call to worship will be given by Rev. Wayne J. Eberly, pastor of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

Following the hymn, "All Hail The Power Of Jesus' Name," the invocation will be given by Rev. Mr. Eberly.

The Fort Hill High School Choir will sing the anthem, "The Heavens Are Telling," by Naldn, and the responsive reading will be given by Rev. E. E. Miller, pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The hymn, "He Lives," will be sung by the Cumberland Ministerial Association choir. The prayer will be given by Rev. William Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel, will recite the offering prayer and the AHS brass sextet will play the offertory.

The anthem, "Gloria In Excelsis Deo," from the Twelfth Mass by Mozart will be sung by the Fort Hill choir.

The Easter message will be given by Dr. Howard Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church.

After the hymn, "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today," the benediction will be given by Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Baptist Church.

Members of the Central YMCA City Council will be ushers.

Auxiliary To Sew

The Sacred Heart Hospital Auxiliary will hold a sewing session tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Nurses Home on Decatur Street.

Scene Of Christ's Temple Visit Still Holy

Moslem Shrine Occupies Old Jewish Temple Site

EDITOR'S NOTE: Nowhere on this earth is war closer than in Palestine, the very region which heard Christ's voice and felt His footsteps. Here is the first in a series of five reports on the condition at Easter, 1957, of sites Christ made holy by His presence nearly 2,000 years ago.

By WILTON WYNN

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP)—Inside the walls of Old Jerusalem is a quiet courtyard surrounding a mosque and a beautiful dome. Some people here believe the trumpet will sound on Judgment Day from a rock beneath the dome and that souls of the dead will be weighed in balance scales hanging from nearby arches.

This is holy ground. Foreigners can enter only by special permission. In some sections, shoes must be removed or heavy slippers put on.

Known to the Arabs as the "Haram es Sherif" (August Sanctuary), this enclosure covers the site of the Jewish Temple of Jesus' day. When Jesus was 12, His parents brought Him from Nazareth to visit the Temple here. While the family was on the north road back to Nazareth, Jesus remained in the Temple with the learned "doctors," astonishing them with His questions and answers. It was His first effort as a teacher of mankind and the only event of Jesus' childhood related in the Bible.

Many changes have taken place in this area since Jesus was here. The Jewish Temple has been destroyed for nearly 2,000 years. No Jewish priests can enter the area today. But the temple site still is a sacred religious enclosure where learned "doctors" of another faith gather for endless discussion and study.

Belongs to Moslems

The Temple area now is a sacred Moslem shrine, the third most holy place in Islam. The Moslem sheikhs, some of whom come from thousands of miles away to spend their lives in religious contemplation.

Teacher Pay Raise Vetoed By Governor

McKeldin Urges Passage Realistic Self-Help Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has vetoed a legislative enactment which would have given Maryland school teachers a pay raise by raising the state tax on cigarettes three cents a pack.

The veto now will come up at the General Assembly's 30-day "budget" session in 1958, when it can be overridden by a three-fifths majority in both houses.

A three-fifths margin would not be hard to muster, judging by this year's session. The compromise measure cleared both House and Senate in the waning moments of the session the night of April 11, with only one "nay" vote in both houses.

In returning the unsigned bill yesterday to House Speaker John C. Luber (D-Balto 5th), the governor reiterated his oft-repeated conviction that teacher pay boosts must come on a local, not a state, level.

Action Draws Criticism

"I must decline to approve House Bill 253," he wrote, "and urge that the Legislature seek a means of realistically helping and inducing the political subdivisions to help themselves."

McKeldin's action drew immediate criticism from Milton C. Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Assn., who said:

"It is amazing that one man could go against the wishes expressed by almost unanimous passage by the Legislature. The governor is completely ignoring the state's responsibility for public education of our children."

The compromise bill worked out by a joint Senate-House conference committee would have financed higher teacher salaries with a 10-cent million dollar tax program effective next July 1. All but $100,000 of the money would have gone to provide a pay increase averaging $400 per year. Larger boosts—some up to $1,900—would have gone to principals.

The House had wanted to grant 10-cent million dollars in pay increases and finance them with a boost of one-half per cent in the state income tax.

The Senate had wanted a flat, $350 across-the-board pay raise for principals and supervisors as well as teachers, to cost more than seven million dollars and be financed through a 2-cent tobacco levy.

The House gave final approval to the compromise bill 107-0. The Senate vote was 25-1, with Sen. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) the lone dissenter and three passers.

Governor Defends Stand

McKeldin's letter said that while larger counties are wealthier they also have larger burdens with more pupils, schools and teachers.

"The real answer," he said, "lies in their (the larger counties) more realistic assessments of property for tax purposes and the more realistic rates, generally speaking, at which real estate taxes are imposed."

The governor—himself a non-smoker—also said the proposed cigarette tax would be unfair to dealers and consumers "in Baltimore City and those counties which now impose cigarette taxes to supplement their revenues."

He said his proposal for a tobacco tax differed greatly from the one passed by the Legislature, in that his "would have equalized cigarette taxes throughout the state at a rate of 5 cents per package," while the bill "would throw them into greater disorder than they are at the present time."

Injured In Fall

Michael F. O'Neill, 209 Piedmont Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital at noon today after being injured in a fall from Columbia Street. He sustained a laceration of the scalp.

DROWNS—Robert P. Long, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Long, former residents, drowned yesterday when he fell into an uncovered well about a mile from his College Park home. The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Former Local Youth Drowns In Open Well

Robert P. Long, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Long, former residents, drowned yesterday when he fell into an uncovered well about a mile from his College Park, Md., home.

Prince Georges County police said the boy stepped into eight feet of water in the triangular well located in a dark corner of an abandoned pump house.

The boy was a fifth grade student at University Park Elementary School.

Two playmates, Wayne Ross, 8, and Thomas Sullivan, 8, told police they were unable to pull the boy out when he fell in the well so they ran to nearby Northwestern High School for help. George O'Neal, 16, and two other boys came to the well, pulled the child out and sent for help, but the Chillum Rescue Squad was unable to revive him.

County Medical Examiner Dr. John T. Maloney ruled the death was an accidental drowning. Police said the Grayrock well, where Robert went, with its bridge island and pump house, is a favorite play spot for neighborhood children.

Mrs. Long said that when Robert went outside she had given him strict orders not to go far from the house.

Survivors, besides his parents, are a nine-months old baby brother, Neal, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Long, 426 Arch Street, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Violet Grindie, Hyattsville, formerly of Cumberland.

The body is at the George Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Manslaughter Case Started

The trial of Clarence Junior Northcraft, 29, of 49 Humbird Street, on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle in the death of Mrs. Matilda Agnes Blaine, 73, of 417 Springdale Street, was started today in Circuit Court.

The woman was struck by Northcraft's car on Virginia Avenue near Fifth Street about 8:25 p. m. on March 22. She was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

Defense attorneys for Northcraft are Simon F. Reilly and Peter J. Carpentier.

The case will be resumed after the noon recess. Chief Judge George Henderson is presiding.

Dr. Frantz Resigns City Health Post

Veteran Official Notices Council Of May 1 Retirement

Dr. Winter R. Frantz submitted his resignation as city health officer today, effective May 1.

Dr. Frantz, in a letter, told the Mayor and Council he plans to retire on that date and thanked council for its cooperation and efforts in furthering the work of the Health Department.

Council, on motion of Commissioner William H. Buchholz, accepted Dr. Frantz's resignation with "deep regret."

Commissioner William V. Keegan said that men like Dr. Frantz who give their services to a city at such a low salary compared to what they could make in private practice, are "few and far between."

Buchholz said the veteran health officer will be difficult to replace and also suggested that a resolution of thanks be prepared for his services to the city.

Council also acted on two appointments and a status change. Raymond W. McKinley was confirmed as a regular member of the Fire Department effective April 6.

Mrs. Margaret B. Manges was hired in a temporary capacity to aid in verifying signatures on petitions filed in connection with a referendum on a proposed $500,000 bond issue. She will be paid $7 a day.

The status of Carl Wolfe was changed to permanent maintenance man in the Recreation Department at $1.54 an hour. As a seasonal employee he had received $1.40 an hour.

Council also confirmed the action of the Recreation Board which has accepted the resignation of N. Gwynn Fletcher as recreation director, effective April 22. Fletcher is going to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, as recreation director for the Air Materiel Command.

Local Police Probe Series Of Robberies

City Police today were checking a number of theft and burglary complaints received yesterday.

A breaking and entering was reported at a local service station, netting the culprit $100; a woman's pocketbook was stolen from a local store; another woman had a coat stolen and a burglary was reported at Fort Hill High School.

The Fort Hill report proved to be false, according to Det. Thomas See. The detective said investigation showed several broken windows, but no one entered the school.

Entry to Gehauf's Amoco Service Station 400 Park Street, was gained, police said, by breaking a small glass in the side door of the building sometime Saturday night. The thief apparently reached in and slid back the door bolt to gain entry.

Ralph Gehauf, operator of the service station, reported about $100 in cash had been taken from a tray which was on a shelf in a small storage room. Charles Albright, night attendant, closed the station at 10 p. m. Saturday, according to the p. m. report, and put $125.84 in the cash tray.

A $20 bill and $6.84 in silver were left in the tray. Investigating officers said nothing else appeared to be taken.

Police are also on the lookout for the person or persons who took a brown cloth pocketbook belonging to Miss Hilda Williams, RD1, Braddock Road, who said her purse was taken while she was in a local store on Saturday.

Miss Williams said she had placed the purse on a shelf in a dressing room. It contained a change purse, keys, a $10 bill, roll of pennies, $5 in quarters, pictures and cards.

The woman's wallet with the pictures and cards was found shortly afterwards in an empty lot at Dexter Place off South Centre Street.

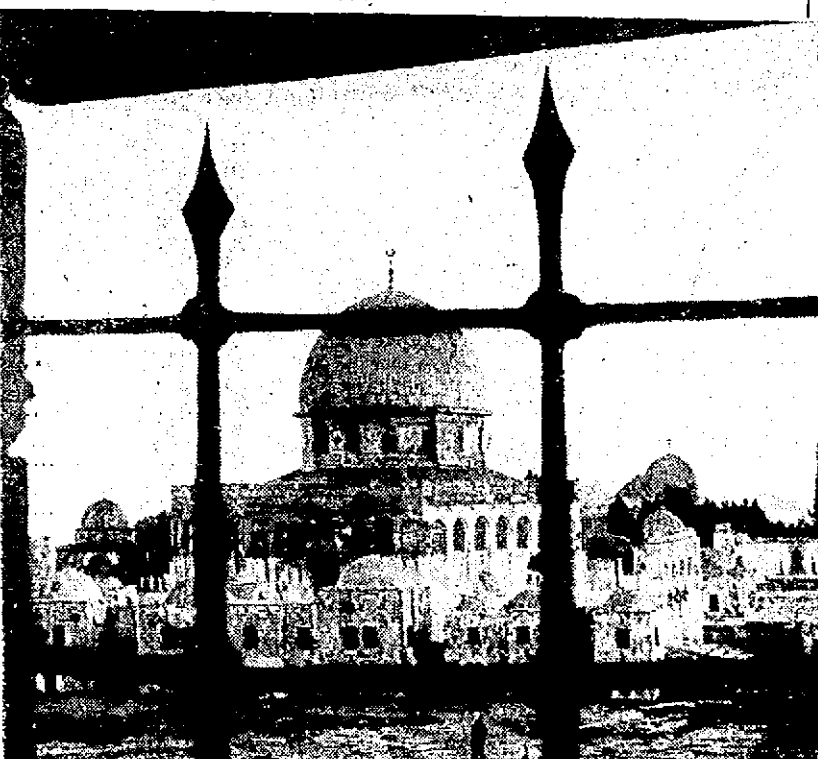

Mrs. John Murphy, 131 Arch Street, reported to police a black brocade coat she had just purchased was stolen Saturday in a local store.

She said she placed the coat on the floor near a counter where she made other purchases, left her young son with it, and when she returned the box was gone.

The group is comprised of Elizabeth Murray and Ann Decker, sopranos; Frances Belt and Kay Ott, altos; Royce Hodges, Jr. and Downey Price, tenors and Allen Emrick and Thomas Ward, bass. Patricia Smith will be accompanist.

Eisenhower's Pitch To Test 'Jinx Theory'

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower's opening-day pitch at Griffith Stadium today will test anew the thin theory that the player who snags the Presidential souvenir may come up with a prize souvenir but go down to the minors shortly afterward.

A superstition is growing in the superstitious profession of baseball that the player who captures the coveted Presidential throw is jinxed.

The jinx myth on the Presidential baseball isn't quite as well embedded as the superstitions about the Hope diamond or King Tut's tomb, but it has snake-bit enough recipients to over with Hector "Skinny" Brown on the mound for the visiting Orioles and Bob Chakales hurling for the hometown Senators.

Like himself has a .500 batting average in the jinx department. His first throw in 1953 was captured by hard-hitting Washington outfielder Ken Wood who promptly went hitless in four times at bat in the opening ball game, was shipped to the International League a month later and never came back.

In 1954, Tom Umpflett, another promising Washington outfielder, was outscrambled for the prize by New York Yankee hurler Johnny Sain. Both drifted out of the majors within a year.

Players who grabbed Eisenhower pitches in the last two openers have defied the jinx. Washington's Pete Runnels was the free-for-all winner in 1955 and has been outstanding since. Yankee shortstop Gil McDougald snatched up the throw a year ago and had a tremendously successful year.

Perhaps the worst jinx befell a little Cuban hurler, Gonzalo Naranjo, during one of ex-President Harry S. Truman's appearances. He came out of the mound with the coveted souvenir, had it autographed by Truman, was copiously photographed and, 36 hours later was sent out to the minors for keeps.

Even the initial Presidential pitch by William Howard Taft in 1912 fanned the great Walter Johnson. The Big Train hurled a 3 to 0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics but was deprived of a no-hitter when a routine fly by Home Run Baker dropped into the overflow crowd for an automatic hit.

Non-playing bystanders have become involved in opening pitch incidents. Ike, in his first appearance hit an umpire in the seat of the pants with a second throw he made for the benefit of photographers.

In 1940, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt let loose with a wild throw that smashed a photographer's lens and a Washington policeman grabbed it on the bounce to go down in baseball's history book. To anyone's knowledge, he never went down to the minors.

MILAN (U)—World bantamweight boxing champion Alphonse Halimi of France has agreed to give deaf mute Mario D'Agata a return bout, Italian sports promoter Vittorio Strumolo said today.

Halimi lifted the title from D'Agata in a 15-round bout at Paris April 1. Prior to the bout, the winner had agreed to fight Mexico's Raul Macias within three months. Macias is recognized by the U.S. National Boxing Assn. as world champion.

Seven Major League Openers Set Tomorrow

Baltimore Entertains Boston Sox, Bucs Home

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS)—The 1957 baseball season opens today with only Washington and Baltimore on stage, but experts say the final act will see the New York Yankees in a showdown with either Brooklyn or Milwaukee.

Sunshine is expected to bathe Griffith Stadium early this afternoon when President Eisenhower raises his trusty right arm to wave out the inaugural ball. Then the professionals will take snake-bit enough recipients to over with Hector "Skinny" Brown on the mound for the visiting Orioles and Bob Chakales hurling for the hometown Senators.

Winner Goes Into First The winning team will enjoy the distinction of having sole possession of first place for at least one day, since the remaining 14 major league teams do not swing into action until tomorrow.

The Senators help the world champion New York Yankees open at Yankee Stadium, Boston is at Baltimore, Detroit visits Kansas City and Chicago's White Sox invade Cleveland in the American League contests.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs play host to Milwaukee, Cincinnati entertains St. Louis, the New York Giants visit Pittsburgh, and in a night game at Philadelphia, Brooklyn meets the Phillies.

The Yankees, with manager Casey Stengel driving hard for his eighth pennant, are odds-on 2-to-5 favorites to win the flag. In the National League, both the Dodgers and Braves are listed as 6-to-5 favorites.

There doesn't seem to be a team in the American League capable of beating out the Yankees, but many times in the past a team has caught fire to do the unexpected.

Feller, Robinson Missing And it's not a question of just Brooklyn or Milwaukee in the National League. Both St. Louis and Cincinnati have incendiary ideas and might blaze through to the pennant.

This year two great names—Bobby Feller and Jackie Robinson—will be missing from box scores. At least one other—Al Rosen—seems certain to stay out for the year despite recent doubts to the contrary.

For those who put great stock in pennant winners this spring were the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cleveland Indians. Milwaukee placed second while the Dodgers brought up the rear. The Yankees finished behind the Indians while the Detroit Tigers had the worst spring record in either league.

The Dodgers whipped the Yankees, 2 to 1, yesterday as Johnny Podres added four more goose-eggs to the string of shut-out innings he has pitched against the world champs. Carl Furillo's single drove in the winning two runs off Bobby Shantz.

Indians Edge Braves

Cleveland closed its exhibition season more auspiciously by edging Milwaukee, 5 to 4. Al Smith's three-run homer was the big blow for the Indians as Early Wynn bested Gene Conley.

The Chicago White Sox lost an inter-city squabble to the Cubs, 4 to 1, as the Pale Horse managed just three hits. Dave Hillman, a hopeful from Los Angeles, was the winning hurler.

Cincinnati's muscular Redlegs needed a two-run rally in the ninth to beat Louisville of the American Association, 4 to 3. Buster Freeman won in relief as he will many times during the year.

St. Louis split a doubleheader with Kansas City. The Cards won the first, 7 to 3, with Sam Jones getting the win and dropped the second, 1 to 0, as Mickey McDermott and Arnie Porter combined for the whitewash job.

The Philadelphia Phils topped the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 2, as Curt Simmons picked up a win. Jim Finigan's two-run homer was the big blow in Detroit's 4-to-3 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bill Taylor's 11th-inning inside-the-park homer gave the New York Giants the edge in a 6-to-5 decision with Baltimore.

The Senators were rudely treated by Richmond, the Yankee farm in the International League, when the Virginians ran over them for a 12-to-4 victory.

OAKLAND, Calif. (U)—Bob Satterfield of Chicago puts the slugger's test to local heavyweight Ben Wise in a bout scheduled for 10 rounds in Oakland's Auditorium tonight.

Satterfield has won 33 of 44 victories by stopping his foe and has been stopped 13 times in meetings with top names in the ranks.

Wise, known here as a good boxer with a solid punch, has only six victories on his record, five of them by knockout. He lost four times and fought one draw. He never has been stopped and his only knockdown was at the first round of ranking heavy Eddie Machen in 1953.

Through Knotholes, The Voice Of Spring

Furillo Crack Answered By Braves' Spahn

MILWAUKEE (U)—Carl Furillo's crack that Milwaukee still isn't hungry enough to win the National League pennant is a tipoff, the Braves added, "so he's just trying to give the folks back home something to talk about."

"Sounds to me like they're running scared already," said Warren Spahn yesterday after the Braves had concluded their spring exhibition season with a 3-4 loss to Cleveland.

"He knows we're in better condition than a year ago and he knows we think we can win it," Spahn added, "so he's just trying to give the folks back home something to talk about."

"Then again, he probably feels bad because the Dodgers, leading champions, aren't being picked by many people to repeat. When they start talking like that, you know they're worried."

Furillo, veteran Dodger right fielder, was quoted as saying last week that the Braves weren't going to win because "they're not hungry enough—they're not the same club that couldn't hold an eight-game lead last year."

International Opens Tonight

HAVANA (U)—Sporting an all-Latin lineup for the first time, the Havana Sugar Kings entertain the Montreal Royals tonight in the opening game of the International League season.

This is the only contest scheduled. All the other clubs open tomorrow with Toronto, the defending champion, Miami, Buffalo at Columbus and Rochester at Richmond.

Emilio Cueche, 28-year-old Venezuelan, has been nominated for the pitching job by Sugar King manager Nap Reyes. He will be opposed by Montreal's Billy Harris.

The Cubans finished sixth last year, the Royals fourth. A crowd of 17,000 is expected.

Casays And Green's Open Play Tomorrow

The six-game series to determine the championship of the County Men's Shuffleboard League will be played tomorrow at Frostburg between Cumberland Knights of Columbus and Green's Chevrolet. Action will start on the Sweeter Restaurant board at 9 p. m. Date for the last three games on the Casays' board will be decided after tomorrow's match.

The Chevies qualified for the finals by winning the National Division title, while the Knights copped honors in the American.

Frostburg Legion Title Choice Tonight

Frostburg American Legion, leading by 29 points, will be favored to cop its fifth straight championship in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League when it meets Green Chevrolet, also of Frostburg, in the last three games of a nine-game playoff series tonight. Action will be on the Green board.

Past champions: 1956—Frostburg Legion 1955—Frostburg Legion 1954—Frostburg Legion 1953—Frostburg Legion 1952—Stadium Inn, Frostburg 1951—Stadium Inn, Frostburg 1950—Cresap Tavern

Brave And Hopeful Pirates Kings Of Exhibition Season

Step up and meet the champions—the Pittsburgh Pirates, no less.

The young, brave and hopeful Buccos finished the exhibition season yesterday with a 20-10 record, although they lost their finale, 4-3, to Detroit.

The Pirates had a .667 average, just a half-game ahead of the Milwaukee Braves. The standings were figured on all games, against both major league and minor league opposition.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians came out on top with a 19-14 record good for .576. The New York Yankees were second with an 18-16 mark. The Indians, of course, played most of their games against the New York Giants.

The Tigers, who have been losing loads of one-run games all spring, finally won one against the Pirates, mostly as a result of Jim Finigan's two-run homer and Bill Tuttle's two-run double.

The Brooklyn Dodgers polished off the Yanks, 2-1, in the Yankee Stadium, and that old Yankee killer, Johnny Podres, held the Bombers completely in check for the first four innings to run his recordless string against them to 21 innings starting with the last two stanzas of the third game of the 1955 World Series.

Wake Forest Ties Wolfpack For ACC Lead

By The Associated Press Wake Forest, the baseball team Deacon Coach Eugene Hooks said last week "looked good on paper," looked a lot better today on top of the Atlantic Coast Conference with North Carolina State.

Hooks, who as an undergraduate at Wake Forest was an All-America player, saw his team jump from a last place tie to a first place tie last week.

The Deacons dumped three ACC foes in pulling the trick. They whipped Duke, the defending champion, 8-5; South Carolina, 4-3, and on Saturday battered Clemson 9-6.

Duke Bounces Back Duke, which dropped two of its four ACC games last week bounced back in the win column Saturday with 9-4 win over North Carolina.

The Tar Heels, who had licked Virginia twice during the week, moved into third place at 4-2. Duke was fourth at 3-2.

N. C. State suffered its first conference defeat Saturday with a 5-0 loss to South Carolina and Maryland dropped Virginia 6-0 in another shut out.

With N. C. State and Wake Forest tied for first at 3-1, the first big game of the week comes tomorrow when Duke invades Winston-Salem for another crack at the Deacons.

Hopkins At Maryland Colgate is at Virginia and Johns Hopkins is at Maryland in tomorrow's other games that get the week rolling. Twelve games are scheduled—nine of them family affairs.

With the season still young, all of the teams still are within striking distance. South Carolina, which also bounced Duke 6-3 last week to prove itself dangerous, tops the second division with a 4-1 record. Maryland is sixth at 1-4. Virginia and Clemson, which both dropped all their games last week, are tied for last at 1-4.

The schedule: Today—Open. Tuesday—Duke at Wake Forest, Colgate at Virginia, Johns Hopkins at Maryland. Wednesday—Clemson at North Carolina. Thursday—Virginia at North Carolina State. Friday—Maryland at North Carolina State, Virginia at Wake Forest, Clemson at Duke, North Carolina at Furman.

Saturday—Maryland at Wake Forest, Virginia at Duke, North Carolina at South Carolina.

Bruins Prevent Sweep, Win 2-0

BOSTON (U)—Veteran winger Fleming Mackell and Rookie goalie Don Simmons are responsible for a revived Boston hockey team in its uphill Stanley Cup fight against Montreal.

The Bruins move into the forum, madhouse headquarters of Les Canadiens, for the fifth game tomorrow night after turning their back in a last-ditch battle for survival.

Mackell's two goals and a shut-out by Simmons enabled Boston to foil a Montreal bid for a four-game sweep of the best-of-seven series last night, 2-0. The Canadiens lead three games to one.

The sudden reversal has enlivened the entire Boston team. The players are looking forward eagerly to the test tomorrow night after regaining their confidence.

"Now if we can only win that next one, and back here Thursday, we'll be in pretty good shape," Simmons said after his outstanding 21-save performance.

Ray Mathews Inks '57 Steeler Contract

PITTSBURGH (U)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today signed veteran Ray Mathews to a 1957 contract. Mathews will be playing his seventh year with the Steelers. He joined the club as a halfback after playing at Clemson. His new contract lists him as an end, a position he shifted to last season.

LaSalle, Fort Hill Will Clash Tuesday

It won't take long to cut down the list of undefeated teams in the Allegany County Baseball Conference despite the fact the eight clubs will be playing only the second games of their schedule tomorrow afternoon.

Topping the card will be the first meeting of the loop co-champs from last season when Fort Hill invades Stitches Field at 3:30 to meet LaSalle's Explorers. Both clubs finished up in 1956 with 13 wins and three losses while the Sentinels bagged the city title outright.

Sentinels Win, LaSalle Loses Fort Hill got off on the winning side Friday afternoon with a 12-3 rout of Mt. Savage on the Hilltoppers' diamond while the Explorers were handed a 4-1 setback by Valley of Delmont at Stitches Field.

Allegany and Beall of Frostburg both came up with the other opening day triumphs, the Campers clobbering Bruce of Westernport, 14-3, at Campobello while the Mountaineers slipped by Flintstone, 4-1.

Valley and Beall will put their spotless records up against each other in one of the other three games when they clash at Frostburg. Flintstone will invade the city to meet the Campers on Alco field while Bruce and Mt. Savage will have a fray scheduled on the Indians' field.

All of tomorrow's tilts will get underway at 3:30 with the teams then putting away their toys until Tuesday of next week with no action scheduled on Good Friday of this week.

Six Potomac Valley Conference tilts are also in the offering tomorrow with Moorefield and Keyser both out to extend victory strings.

Jackets Keep Winning

The Jackets, who have won the PVC crown the past three years, will take a carryover winning string of 23 games into the clash against Remmy with the Jackets being the host nine. Moorefield bagged its opening game with a 10-2 rout of Wardsville.

Keyser has been the busiest club in the area and coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team will be out for its fourth triumph this spring with West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney invading Keyser. Wins by the Clarkmen have all been in conference play with the victims being Fort Ashby twice (21-6 and 4-2) and Romney, 15-0. The loss by the Pioneers was their first start.

In another PVC encounter Elk Garden will be after its second win for as many starts when the Stags meet Fort Ashby on the latter's diamond. The Eagles, along with their pair of setbacks to Keyser, were a 3-1 loser to Paw Paw last Friday.

Elk Garden's veteran club rapped West Virginia Deaf, 11-3, in its lidlitter Friday.

Circleville, also sporting an unbeaten mark with the 3-1 trimming of Petersburg Friday, will be host to Southern of Oakland (0-1), Petersburg (0-1) is at Franklin and Wardsville (0-1) plays at Mathias (0-0) to round out the league card.

Two Games Today Hancock and Berkeley Springs meet on the Indians' field while Ashland (Ohio) College is at Frostburg to meet the Bobcats in tomorrow's other contests.

A pair of tilts were listed this afternoon, one in the PVC with Capon Bridge being invaded by Paw Paw. The Capon club has yet to lose in two starts with close

About three years ago we watched it all. "Skeets" Starkey registered a technical knockout in a fight at Johnstown's War Memorial.

The scene was the State Armory where Skeets Starkey was making his debut as an amateur under the tutelage of Robert (Sparky) Chisholm. Battered to the canvas, "Skeets" appeared on the verge of a knockout but he fought back with courage and determination to get the decision.

From Miami, however, comes news that Starkey is trying a ring comeback and "bating" .500 for two bouts. Mr. J. K. Rozum, who seldom missed one of Starkey's bouts here, writes that "Skeets" was knocked out in his first Miami fling but bounced back to register a kayo himself in his next try.

"Doc," who has been residing in Coral Gables (a Miami suburb) for the past three-and-a-half years, says Starkey, in his first bout in the Florida city, lasted only a minute and some seconds. He was decked four times before the referee stepped in and called a halt to hostilities.

Last Tuesday night, Starkey fought one of the preliminaries at the Jose Flores-Joe Miceli bout at Miami Beach Auditorium and showed vast improvement. Scheduled for a four-rounder against Billy Leonard of Jacksonville, Starkey ended the fight in 1:09 of the second heat.

If he continues to show promise, Chris Dundee will probably get him some feature bouts, Dr. Rozum declares.

"Doc" also sent some glowing reports on two Cumberland boys who are making good in football at the University of Miami. Phil Geatz, former LaSalle High star, is playing first-string end in spring drills, while Fort Hill's Jim Crawford is being converted into a tackle.

Crawford, who was a baller-in-type of fullback as a Fort Hill junior, was switched to halfback by Bill Hahn as a senior. Apparently, Andy Gustafson wants to take advantage of "Jarrin" Jim's tank-like build and speed up front.

Dr. Rozum sat in on several workouts and said both players are showing up well. "I'm also convinced," he said, "that Miami will have another good team this year." (Miami was among the nation's top ten teams in 1956).

The former local surgeon, who was scheduled to play for the Coral Gables Knights of Columbus golf team in the Florida State tournament yesterday on the Biltmore course, was recently appointed to the surgical committee at Miami's Mercy Hospital.

Golf Only Sport In Which Negro Has No Equal Chance

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Jackie Robinson says that on "the over-all picture" golf is the only sport in which the Negro does not have an equal chance today.

The former Brooklyn Dodger star, major league baseball's first Negro player, also said he did not think anyone was denied a chance to play professional baseball.

Interviewed on NBC-TV's "Meet The Press," Robinson said last night he believed "nine out of ten of the major league owners are looking for ability and ability alone" when they sign new players.

He said, however, that golf employed restrictions for reasons other than ability.

"There are cases," stated Robinson, "where Negroes are allowed to participate in golf tournaments but in the great majority of tournaments they are not allowed in them."

Robinson, who retired last December to take an executive position with a New York restaurant chain, said his early days in baseball "weren't as bad as a lot of people would like to have made them out to be."

Questioned about baseball's reserve clause which binds a player to one team, Robinson said he thought "something should be done about it" but that it was a "good system until something better comes along."

"I hope," Robinson declared, "that the baseball owners will think enough of the ball players themselves to say, 'Well, I'm going to do something for the players, and besides selling them whenever they can, maybe give them a piece of the money when they're sold, or something.'"

Rain Tough On WVU Baseball, Grid Teams

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — (Special)—Some sort of record must be attributed to West Virginia University's baseball and football teams this spring. The baseballers were rained out of five consecutive scheduled games, while the grid squad, in trying to use the allotted number of spring practice sessions, was able to get in only four drills during the first 13 days of the given period.

Negro League To Disband In West Virginia

INSTITUTE, W. Va. — School integration caught up with this week with the West Virginia High School Athletic Union.

The once-powerful athletic organization of 32 Negro high schools in the state, with its own state championships in football, basketball, track and baseball, simple statement, "this is it," has lost 10 of its last 12 members to the State Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

All its former members either have closed and integrated with formerly all white high schools, such as Monongalia of Morgantown and Charleston of Charleston, or have joined the Activities Commission, as Amigo Byrd Pridler of Bluefield Park Central did Thursday.

"There will probably be a meeting between now and next September to disband officially," said A. P. Hamblin, statistical secretary of the organization, here. "It's hard to see an organization go that you've spent a lot of work on, but there's quite a bit of consolation. After all, you can't stop progress."

With only two schools left, the union roster is similar to what it was at the beginning, in 1914 when representatives of Huntington Doubllass, Grafton Garrison and Parkersburg Sumner high schools met in Parkersburg. They began an athletic program among a handful of schools and two years later formed the Colored High School Association with seven members — Sumner, Douglass, Garrison, Wheeling Lincoln, Fairmont Dunbar, Charleston Garnet and Parkersburg Kelly Miller. In the late 1920's the association became the Athletic Union.

President To Use No-Windup Picking Game Fifth Time On Opening Day

By JOHN BARRINGTON (INS Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—(INS)—In the 86 seasons since the first professional baseball league was formed, inventive journalists have worn out most of the fanciful phrases that could be employed to herald another opening day.

We no longer have a license for the mass murder in print of office state championships in football, boys' grandmothers, and even the basketball, track and baseball, simple statement, "this is it," has lost 10 of its last 12 members to the State Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

All of which is just as well. It hardly is possible that the big occasion has sneaked up on even Lewisburg Bowling and Bluestone of Bramwell, and the union undoubtedly will disband officially in tedious rehearsal since late before the next school year.

All its former members either have closed and integrated with formerly all white high schools, such as Monongalia of Morgantown and Charleston of Charleston, or have joined the Activities Commission, as Amigo Byrd Pridler of Bluefield Park Central did Thursday.

"There will probably be a meeting between now and next September to disband officially," said A. P. Hamblin, statistical secretary of the organization, here. ## Tom Heinsolm No. 1 Rookie

NEW YORK —Tom Heinsolm of the Boston Celtics edged out teammate Bill Russell for "Rookie of the Year" honors in the National Basketball Assn. in balloting of sportswriters and broadcasters in league cities.

Heinsolm, former Holy Cross All-American, outlasted the 1956 Olympic basketball champion's star, Russell, who failed to place on the first two teams in the league's All-Star selections. Russell, a defensive sensation for the Celtics this season, and two-time All-American at San Francisco, teamed with Heinsolm, Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman in dominating the balloting for the league's top players.

Cousy received the most votes to make the All Star team for the sixth consecutive year, with Sharman also being selected a member of the first five. League scoring champ Paul Arizin of Philadelphia, and Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, were right behind Cousy in vote-getting, while Syracuse star Adolph Schayes was the fifth selection.

The Warriors' Neil Johnston led the second team selections, for the fourth consecutive time. He was joined by Maurice Stokes, of Rochester, St. Louis' Steve Martin, Dick Garmaker of Minneapolis and George Yardley of the Ft. Wayne Pistons. Garmaker and Yardley were the only newcomers on the All Star squad.

Crystals Cop Ladies Second-Half Crown

The Crystals copped the second-half crown in the Savoy Ladies League as they won two games ahead of runner-up Diamonds who won two from Majestics. Third-place finishing Benders took two contests from Queen City.

High scorers were Majestics, Ann Morris, 134-331; Diamonds, Harriet Allison, 167-408; Savoy, Freda Shroat, 192-431; Crystals, Margaret Yantorno, 160-391; Benders, Hazel Delozier, 150; Helen Lauer, 366; Queen City, Virginia Fisher, 132-323.

The league will hold its annual dinner, Friday, May 3 at Minke's Cottage Inn.

DALLAS, Texas — (INS) — Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge moved into final round play of the $7,500 Dallas Women's Open golf tournament today leading the field with a 36-hole total of 138.

The 23-year-old leading money-winner of women's golf last year will begin firing the final 36 holes with a two-stroke lead over runner-up Wiffie Smith of St. Clair, Mich.

Old, Bell Says

PHILADELPHIA — Commissioner Bert Bell says there is nothing new in the National Football League's method of selecting radio and TV announcers for football games.

In a statement yesterday he denied the system had been instituted because of controversies last year when TV cameras failed to show fights that occurred in several NFL games.

Oliver E. Kuechle, Milwaukee Journal sports columnist, stated on Saturday that the system was "a challenge to the integrity of men who want to do honest reporting on the air." He suggested the selection method came because happenings on the field were "too vividly or honestly described."

Bell said it was NFL policy for him to select the actual game announcer, color reporter or commentator from three men suggested in each category by the advertiser. He explained that sometimes announcers knew their sponsor's products better than football.

"We want a man who understands, can describe and sell the game," said Bell in justifying the selection method. He added he didn't want fights on the football field telecast because of the influence on youngsters watching the games.

West Virginia And Spiders In Twin Bill

By The Associated Press
The only two teams still unbeaten in Southern Conference baseball competition besides defending champion George Washington square off in a doubleheader today that may determine whether either can be rated a serious challenger to the Colonials' grip on first place.

Richmond's Spiders and West Virginia's Mountaineers, both in the process of rebuilding but still looking to be among the league's top teams, were scheduled to collide in a twin bill at Morgantown, W. Va., that could temporarily sidetrack the title hopes of either—if it lost both games.

Rain Hampers WVU
The Spiders went into the contests with a 1-0 league record, while the Mountaineers—plagued by rain all season—had yet to see conference action before today. GW, meanwhile, leads the loop with a 3-0 mark.

GW and West Virginia before today were the only teams still undefeated in over-all competition, the Colonials having racked up six straight victories and the Mountaineers two.

While the Richmond-West Virginia doubleheader was the only league action on tap, three other conference teams had non-league engagements. GW was scheduled to entertain Colgate in a bid for its seventh triumph. The Citadel (6-5 over-all) was slated to play host to Wofford and Davidson (3-5 over-all) was scheduled to go to Belmont Abbey.

Six Other Games

Six other conference games are scheduled this week. GW invades William & Mary Friday and Richmond Saturday, while West Virginia is at Virginia Tech Friday and Saturday. Davidson goes to Furman Tuesday and Virginia Tech is at Washington & Lee Wednesday in the other family scrap.

GW boosted its league record to 3-0 Saturday in the only conference game with a 10-4 victory over Virginia Tech.

Virginia Military split a non-league doubleheader with Pitt, dropping the first game 8-3 and taking the nightcap 11-9. Furman defeated Georgia Teachers College 9-0 and Washington & Lee bowed to Michigan 9-5.

Snow forced postponement of West Virginia's scheduled game with Waynesburg, which twice before had been rained out.

The rest of this week's schedule: Tuesday—Newberry at The Citadel, Davidson at Furman, West Virginia at Waynesburg.

Wednesday—Wofford at Furman, Vermont at George Washington, Hampden-Sydney at Richmond, Virginia Tech at Washington & Lee.

Thursday—Colgate at William & Mary.

Friday—The Citadel at Jacksonville Navy, McCarry Eagles at Davidson, North Carolina at Furman, George Washington at William & Mary, West Virginia at Virginia Tech.

Saturday—The Citadel at Jacksonville Navy, George Washington at Richmond, West Virginia at Virginia Tech.

Model Prisoners Become Umpires

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Chartering of three umpire associations inside prison walls—at Federal institutions at Atlanta, Ga., and Terre Haute, Ind., and the state prison at Angola, La.—was reported by the National Baseball Congress today.

The semiprofessional ruling body said the charters were issued through the warden's offices, with training courses assured each member.

Only model prisoners who show aptitude for umpiring are approved by the wardens, and issued individual memberships in the Congress' National Assn. of Umpires.

They're eligible initially to work games only within their own prison's walls.

But when they "graduate," they can continue membership and umpiring duties if they wish.

Rookies Help Boston Savor First World Pro Cage Title

BOSTON (AP)—Boston savored its first world basketball championship today because of rookies Tom Heinsohn and Bill Russell and a pair of slick sophomores.

There are no better players in the National Basketball Association than men like Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman.

But when the chips were down the Celtics' younger set came through to nail down the team's first playoff championship in the 11 year history of the loop.

Heinsohn scored 37 points, hitting on 17 of 33 field goal tries, and had 23 rebounds. Russell grabbed 32 rebounds and tallied 19 points.

In the most exciting title series to date, Boston nipped St. Louis 125-123 in double overtime Saturday in the decisive seventh game. Heinsohn was chosen NBA rookie of the year.

Sophomore Great, Too
Frank Ramsey, on leave from the Army, scored on a 20 foot one-handed jump shot with 72 seconds remaining in the second overtime and Jim Loscutt put on the final touches with a free throw in the last second.

These NBA second year men were great, too.

For years the Celtics ranged from awful to terrific but sweat and toil could not produce a title. Then came the moves to get All Americans Heinsohn and Russell.

During Heinsohn's senior year at Holy Cross, Celtics Coach Red Auerbach several times said he didn't believe Tommy was NBA calibre. But when the time came he wound up as Boston's No. 1 draft choice.

Turns Down Trotter Bid
At the same time the Celtics dealt Ed MacAuley and rookie Cliff Hagan to St. Louis for a chance at Russell. They got a promise from Rochester the Royals would not draft the 6-10 defensive genius.

After Russell led America to the Olympic championship, he decided to turn down a tempting offer from the Harlem Globetrotters and join the Celtics.

In the series, Russell got 160 rebounds and Heinsohn tallied 168 points to lead Boston in those departments.

Russell's 244 rebounds including three semifinal contests with Syracuse far exceeded the former mark of 207 in 12 games by George Mikan of Minneapolis in 1952.

But it took every ounce of stamina the Celtics had to win the title. St. Louis fought for every inch and almost threw the pre-season deal back in Boston's face when Hagan proved terrific. Bob Pettit, of course, was remarkable.

In the finale, Hagan had 24 points and Pettit 33.

Trout streams of Western Maryland were thronged with anglers today as the 1957 season opened.

Sunny skies provided perfect weather conditions for fishermen. Many fishermen were out on Evilts Creek at 5:30 a. m. to get in an hour or so of trout fishing before going to work. The stream is only a few miles from the city and one of the most heavily stocked by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

In Garrett County, which has the best trout streams in the state, hotels, motels and farm homes had many guests out on state anglers flocked there as well as sportsmen from the Baltimore and Washington metropolitan areas.

The trout season in Pennsylvania also opened today at 5 a. m. and West Virginia's trout season opens April 27. The season in Maryland closes September 15, in Pennsylvania on September 20 (lake trout can be caught until November 30).

Car Race By Cousins Ends In Fatality

BERKELEY SPRINGS—A car race last night between Lenwood J. Moss, 27, of Berkeley Springs, and his cousin, Harry J. Morris, 24, of Hancock, ended in the death of the latter when the bumpers of their cars locked.

State Trooper Robert Mazingo said the cars were racing side by side on Va. 9 about nine miles west of here when Morris' front bumper hooked with Moss' rear bumper. The cars ran off the road together, one piling against a tree and the other landing in a creek.

The victim was thrown out and landed under the other car. Moss also was thrown clear but was not hurt. Trooper Mazingo said Moss was being charged with negligent homicide.

Three passengers were not seriously hurt—in the Morris car, his half-brother, George Moss, 10, of Berkeley Springs, and Charles McBe, 29, of Hagerstown, and in the Moss car his brother, William Moss, 25, of Berkeley Springs.

Morris was born in Morgan County, a son of Raymond M. and Stella (Peller) Morris, of Sleepy Creek.

He was employed by the Dillon Orchard Company at Hancock, and was a member of Sleepy Creek Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Surviving, besides his parents and brothers, are his widow, Helen (McBe) Morris, and three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker, Hancock; Mrs. Bessie Youngblood, Elmer, Pa.; and Miss Donna Jean Morris, at home.

The body is at the Parks Funeral home here. Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at First EUB Church, with Rev. Paul J. Slonaker, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Greenway Cemetery.

Laundry Sold To Feldstein

PIEDMONT—The American Laundry Company building at the north end of Ashfield Street has been sold to Abe Feldstein, Cumberland, according to Tracy W. Whitworth, secretary and treasurer of the firm.

The company, known for many years as the American Steam Laundry Company, was established in the early '90's by the late Richard H. Whitworth, local druggist. In 1928 his son, Horace P. Whitworth Sr., who had just graduated from Westernport High School, became manager and remained in that position until he entered law school. He still continues as president. The late George Sliger was manager for many years.

Automatic washers and dry cleaning establishments cut down on the volume of business carried on by the company and last year operations were discontinued.

Feldstein stated definite plans have not been made for future use of the laundry building and the old Piedmont town building which he also acquired recently.

The Mt. Savage Alumni Association will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the school. A discussion will be held on the annual mathematics award to a member of the graduating class. A dance on May 10 will also be planned.

Postpone Meeting
WESTERNPORT—The Women's Work Organization of Church of the Brethren has postponed its regular monthly meeting this week until Wednesday, April 24, due to pre-Easter services each evening at the church.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Pence, Hammond Street. Mrs. Zena Hartman will have charge of the program.

Pre-Easter Rites Noted By Pastor

Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, has announced the schedule of Holy Week services, which will open with confessions from 4:30 to 5:20 p. m. on Holy Thursday.

Mass that day will be celebrated at 5:30 p. m., and Father Kilgannon said communion will be distributed after mass for the convenience of late-comers. He pointed out that it is the only time during the day that communion may be distributed, except in the case of the dying.

The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed following the mass until midnight.

Stations of the Cross will be held at 3 p. m. on Good Friday, with mass of the pre-sanctified following. Communion will be distributed at this mass also, Father Kilgannon said.

Confessions will be heard from 7 to 8 p. m. Saturday.

Masses Easter Sunday will be at 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. at St. Anthony's, and an 8 a. m. mass is also scheduled Sunday at the St. Charles Church, Paw Paw, the pastor said.

St. Anthony's will hold its usual Lenten services tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

County Board Will Set Tax Rate Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning the Allegany County Board of Commissioners will set the tax levy and rate for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Most informed sources at the Court House say no tax cut is likely and any increase probably will not go beyond five cents at the most.

There are two items which will have much bearing on the rate finally decided upon by the commissioners. These are the gasoline tax and state income tax allocations from the state.

Information on these two items is expected later today. The commissioners and officials of the county finance department will meet tonight to draw the final figures on receipts and expenditures in the new budget.

Another factor which will decide the tax rate is the amount of surplus left from the current budget. This is expected to be as high as $400,000. The amount left in the current budget will be applied to the next budget.
